Adam Powell's Resignation Seen Likely

Support in Harlem Remains Strong During Absence

NEW YORK (AP)—It has been five months since Adam Clayton Powell won overwhelming re-election to a House seat he has never tried to claim. But Harlem residents seem willing to wait for their self-exiled political leader to straighten out his affairs and return to Congress.

Stirrings of a small summer revolt against the 22-year congressional veteran have died out. Harlem leaders do not see his support dwindling. And an AP survey showed that the community reacted with resigned patience when Powell visited Washington, D.C., to testify before a grand jury last week, but did not come to Harlem.

A spokesman for Manhattan Borough President Percy Sutton, a Negro Democrat mentioned as a top prospect for Powell's seat if the Congressman eventually resigns, as many believe he will, commented that "We feel any time Powell comes back to Harlem he would draw wide support. People still support him on the basis of what he did years ago."

During street corner interviews in Harlem last week most persons who said they had voted for the debonair Baptist minister in years past indicated they would do so again. Nearly half added that while they didn't think Powell had as much support now as he had at the last election, one appearance might remedy the situation.

"He should come back here if he wants to re-establish himself here, but I think people will wait," said Mindell Brown from behind the counter of a hot dog stand on Lenox Avenue.

GOP Group Forming To Back Reagan

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Plans for a Reagan-for-president favorite son delegation began to take shape today with the Republican state chairman predicting California would sweep into the GOP national convention solidly behind Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Reagan's political aides were expected to be on hand as the first of 1,500 California Republicans began checking into the new convention center across the road from Disneyland for the Republican State Central Committee's annual three-day meeting.

Reagan, who insists he is only a favorite son and not a serious presidential candidate, planned to address the meeting Saturday.

That is a day before he lunches with Michigan Gov. George Romney, an undeclared presidential candidate, who is on a nationwide tour to learn of big city problems.

Reagan's aides hope to come away Sunday with solid committee backing for Reagan's plan to lead California representation of at least 80 delegates to the GOP convention in Miami Beach next year as a favorite son.

"Everyone will be glad to have that happen," said James V. Halley, Republican state chairman in California. He predicted adoption of a resolution supporting Reagan as a favorite son and said, "I believe you'll find the convention will respond most favorably" to the proposal.

Romney May Seek GOP Nod

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Michigan's Gov. George Romney has hinted strongly that he may make an early start in the Republican presidential derby with an announcement of his candidacy, perhaps next month.

Such an early hat in the ring—with the Republican convention still 11 months off—would be unusual.

Presumably the aim would be to rally Republican liberals and moderates around one candidate — Romney — to face any challenge from Richard M. Nixon or perhaps California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Rusk's Daughter, Negro Wed in Quiet Ceremony

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — The blonde daughter of Secretary of State Dean Rusk is honeymooning today with her husband, an Army Reserve lieutenant who is a Negro.

The Georgia-born Rusk gave his daughter, Margaret Elizabeth, 18, in marriage Thursday to Guy Gibson Smith, 22, in a formal Stanford University chapel wedding that had been prepared in great secrecy.

The secretary's brother-in-law, Jack Foisie, said Rusk had been "fearful that demonstrations might mar" the occasion. But the quiet ceremony, attended by parents of both the bride and groom and about 16 other relatives and close friends, was performed in traditional fashion without an incident of any sort.

Rusk arrived in the bay area Wednesday afternoon for the announced purpose of visiting Foisie, home on sick leave from his assignment as a news correspondent in Vietnam.

The wedding license was obtained in similar secrecy, after office hours, from Alfred Devancens, assistant court clerk, who said he was called to a private home in Menlo Park. He said State Department officials requested the special arrangements "in the interest of security."

Asked for comment leaving the chapel, Rusk said he was "very happy."

The father of the groom, Clarence L. Smith of Washington, D.C., called the couple "two young people in love."

He is chief analyst with the Army correction program in the office of the provost marshal-general.

The New York Times said in a story from Washington that Rusk was prepared to resign if the interracial marriage was deemed politically embarrassing by the Johnson Administration.

Such offers are traditional when high officials serving at the pleasure of a president fear a development has that potential.

The Times said Johnson apparently regarded it as a formal courtesy and gave it no serious consideration.

The Rusk, the Times said, first learned some months ago that their only daughter intended to marry Smith. The newspaper reported that David Rusk, the bride's older brother, said his parents had, to his knowledge, raised no objection to the marriage.

The bride and groom were driven away in a limousine, their honeymoon destination undisclosed.

Later, Mrs. Smith plans to resume studies at Stanford, where she recently completed the summer quarter as a second-year student.

Her husband, a June graduate of Georgetown University, has been employed recently as a data processor with a private contractor at the Ames Space Agency Research Center in Sunnyvale. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Reserve recently and a relative said he expects to be sent to Vietnam.

The romance of the secretary of state's daughter and the Negro college student flourished after they met in Washington and developed an enthusiasm for horseback riding in the capital city's parks.

1,385 Listed In Draft Call

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Selective Service Board issued a gross October induction call for examination of 1,385 men to provide a net induction of 900 men.

The net induction call compared to a net call of 1,475 in September this year, and 2,641 in October last year.

The call by counties: Allen 38, Athens 9, Auglaize 7, Clinton 2, Defiance 4, Fairfield 14, Fayette 7, Greene 7, Highland 1, Hocking 6, Madison 11, Mercer 4, Paulding 2, Perry 4, Pickaway 6, Putnam 7, Ross 11, Van Wert 3, Warren 16.

UD Will Raise Tuition, Fees

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The University of Dayton announced Friday an increase in student tuition and basic fees in a three-year plan.

Under the plan recommended to the President's Administrative Council the current $500 per term tuition will rise $100 for fulltime students in each of the next three years. Thus a fulltime student will pay $600 for the 1968-69 school year, $700 for the 1969-70 school year and $800 in 1970-71.

The committee also recommended an increase of the basic $25 fee per term to $50. The fee, however, will not increase $25 fee per term to $50. The progressively but remain at $50 under the three-year plan.

Makes Himself Clear

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—A young Marine planned to use a billboard to wish his wife happy birthday today since he isn't scheduled to return from Vietnam until Saturday.

Sgt. Richard Young's message to his wife read: "Happy birthday to my darling wife, Janice, with all my love—Dick Young." The billboard was to be placed on top of a two-story building.

Long denied in a Senate speech that he misused a Senate inquiry into wiretapping and intrusions of privacy to help the Hoffa defense.

Life said Long received $48,000 in 1963 and 1964 from Morris A. Shenker, St. Louis attorney who represented Hoffa in an appeal from a jury-tampering conviction.

Long acknowledged the payments from Shenker, but said they were legal fees which did not involve the Teamsters directly or indirectly. He said they were for client referrals and legal work done jointly with the St. Louis lawyer.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., sought the ethics committee inquiry.

"We've had a good deal of research work done," said committee chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., the chairman. "We just haven't finished our investigation. We're reviewing the whole matter."

One man involved in the inquiry said it is proving more difficult than the investigation which led the committee to recommend, and the Senate to adopt, a resolution censuring Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., for financial misconduct.

SAIGON (AP) — Police indicated today a woman arrested in connection with the shooting of a Nationalist Chinese intelligence officer may be the Dragon Lady who has been gunning down people from the back of a motorcycle.

The National police director Brig. Gen. Nguyen Ngoc Loan, said Miss Phung Ngoc Anh, a 24-year-old Vietnamese of Chinese descent was arrested carrying a .45-caliber pistol which ballistics tests show was used to kill five persons, including two Americans. Loan said the woman admitted three of the shootings.

The Dragon Lady has been variously described as having long hair and short hair and wearing a red scarf and blue scarf. Loan said a search of Mi Anh's apartment turned up a red and a blue scarf and two wigs.

The Dragon Lady shot most of her victims from the back seat of a motorcycle driven by a male accomplice.

The shooting of the Nationalist Chinese intelligence officer, Col. Charles T. Chung, occurred last Wednesday shortly after a terrorist bomb demolished the Chinese embassy in downtown Saigon.

Chung, who is still hospitalized, was shot in the back and thigh as he entered his home in Cholon. Miss Anh was captured at the scene.

Ethics Panel Draws Blank

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Ethics Committee, grappling with its second case of the year, is reported finding it difficult to obtain evidence sufficient to clear or to condemn the conduct of Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo.

The six-member panel will meet again early next week in another effort to decide how to proceed, but one committee source reported today the evidence now in hand is inconclusive.

There were indications the committee would like to reach some decision soon, perhaps next week. Sources close to the panel said its members are mindful that Long is up for reelection in 1968 and already faces the challenge of Lt. Gov. Thomas Eagleton in the Missouri Democratic primary 11 months from now.

The inquiry stems from a charge published May 26 by Life magazine, which accused Long of misusing his power as a Senate subcommittee chairman to help attorneys defending Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa.

Long denied in a Senate speech that he misused a Senate inquiry into wiretapping and intrusions of privacy to help the Hoffa defense.

U.S. Planes Cut VC Supply Roads

SAIGON (AP) — Raiding Navy warplanes severed the last undamaged bridge out of the Red port of Haiphong and probably shot down a MIG fighter attempting to defend the city, the U.S. Command said today.

Red gunners shot down one Navy Crusader jet in the Haiphong area, headquarters said. Radio Hanoi claimed seven American planes were downed in the raids Thursday.

While the air battle raged over North Vietnam's heartland, Communist gunners kept up thunderous barrages along the Demilitarized Zone, aiming about 1,000 shells at the Marine bastions at Con Thien and Gio Linh in the past 24 hours. Seven Marines were killed and 135 wounded. Also wounded was Associated Press photographer Henri Huot.

The heavy air raids on Haiphong were intended to keep the war supplies flowing into the key North Vietnamese port from ever reaching those gunners and other Communist troops fighting in the South. The idea is to close roads and rails leading out of the port, resulting in a massive pileup of supplies in the city.

Missions from the carrier Coral Sea were the fourth this month inside Haiphong, but as in the past the port and docking facilities themselves were spared because of the fear of endangering Soviet bloc shipping and risking a widening of relations between the U. S. and Russia.

Returning pilots said their 500 and 2,000-pound bombs dropped one span of the 638-foot Ken An highway bridge, leading southwest on the only route out of Haiphong which had not been badly pummeled by U.S. raiders. The bridge is 1.7 miles from the city's center.

Skyhawk jets also made their fourth attack since Sept. 11 on the Haiphong railroad-highway bridge one mile west of the city's center.

Above them, four Communist MIGs ran into two supersonic Navy Phantom jets protecting the raiders. In a brief, swirling dogfight, one of the Phantoms scored "possible damage" on one of the MIGs.

Nearby, Red ground fire brought down an RF-4 Phantom jet and the pilot was listed as missing. It was the 89th announced combat loss in the North.

American pilots flew 115 missions over North Vietnam Thursday, striking missile sites, bridges, supply targets and rail lines from the Hanoi-Haiphong area down to the scarred area of the Demilitarized Zone where Marine pilots were concentrating on Red gun positions. In addition, high-altitude B52s twice hit the DMZ area with saturation bombing raids on suspected Red strongholds.

The roar of gunfire and bombing along the DMZ has become almost continuous as the war of attrition there mounts daily. In addition to naval gunfire support from destroyers offshore, Marine and Army gunners are throwing out 6,000 shells daily in preplanned barrages and firing more each time the Red gunners open up.

Rescue Effort Proves Major Undertaking

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — The military struggled today to rescue thousands of victims of Hurricane Beulah, supply food to refugees and carry reptile serum. The Weather Bureau said the damage will "approximate a billion dollars."

Main efforts centered around Robstown, Sinton, Pettus and Three Rivers, north and west of Corpus Christi.

Torrential downpours pounded vast portions of northern Mexico across the Rio Grande from this devastated section.

Beulah's decaying terror moved into an area between Laredo, Tex., and Monterrey, Mexico.

The monstrous problem left by the hurricane came from rains of almost 30 inches in one place and severe rains everywhere it's path.

All highways south of San Antonio were impassable, the State Highway Department reported. State police said the perimeter of the isolated area ran from Matagorda, 150 miles northeast of Corpus Christi, and then in a great arc to San Antonio and Laredo.

Ed Shroeder, assistant disaster director of Nueces County's (Corpus Christi) Red Cross, said officials in Sinton and Victoria pleaded for food and for snakebite kits because so many poisonous reptiles had fled to high ground along with people.

Capt. Marvin Francis, operations officer for a National Guard battalion, said "That's right. Our drivers tell us snakes are everywhere. But so far we have had no reports of anyone being bitten."

Francis said his sources in the National Guard said Three Rivers was aiming at 100 per cent evacuation.

Fifty National Guard trucks were sent from Gatesville to Victoria Wednesday en route to the Lower Rio Grande Valley but many stopped to help Victoria residents. At 8 a.m. the Guadalupe River at Victoria was at 30.01 feet and expected to go to 31 feet. Flood stage is 21 feet, but levees protect much of the city.

The San Antonio Fire Department estimated 10,000 refugees there, mostly those forced from their homes by roaring creeks. Refugees from the lower valley swelled the total. Valley residents (Continued on Page 2)

Columbus' East Side Remains Calm

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Police reported activity was quiet on Columbus' East Side Thursday night after a previous night of disturbances in the predominantly Negro area.

But extra police, working 12-hour shifts, still patrolled the area not far from the state capitol to prevent further outbreaks. Rain and chilly temperatures were credited with keeping people off the streets.

Relative quiet also was reported through the night in Dayton, after two nights of violence on that city's West Side had included looting, window smashing and the arrests of about 200 persons.

Police in both Columbus and Dayton reported they broke up small groups of people before they had a chance to start any trouble.

Picketing by CORE members was blamed for touching off the disturbances here. Officials said the outbreaks occurred after CORE started picketing a tailor shop owned by Martin Bonowitz on Mount Vernon Avenue.

CORE said it was protesting Bonowitz' decision to lease a vacant store room to the Columbus Metropolitan Area Community Action organization instead of to CORE.

Representatives of eight civil rights groups scheduled a meeting today with Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner to present suggestions on steps that might alleviate tension on the East Side.

Among the suggestions were creation of 1,000 new jobs above the menial labor category within the next 30 days, hot lunch programs at all inner-city elementary schools, addition of more Negroes to the police force, creation of job training centers in the area and support of CORE in its effort to find a building to rent.

available in the DMZ area, the North Vietnamese could be attempting to soften up the Marines for some major thrust. It seemed likely, however, that they were simply trying to inflict as many casualties as possible—the pattern of part artillery duels along the border.

Sharp but scattered fighting, was reported elsewhere in South Vietnam.

As background for the intensified raids on Haiphong, Lt. Gen. William W. Momyer, commander of the U.S. 7th Air Force in Vietnam, indicated that disruption of North Vietnamese rail lines down from Red China prompted the Reds to place greater reliance on water shipping to their major port.

Momyer told a news conference Tuesday that the Air Force has put heavy stress on the northeast rail line, carrying supplies from Red China to Hanoi.

In Saigon, the national police held former Economics Minister Au Truong Thanh today after invading his home and later handcuffing him on a downtown Saigon street.

Thanh, a former member of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's Cabinet, tried to form a peace ticket to run in the Sept. 3 presidential election. His ticket was eliminated by the National Assembly, which charged that Thanh was "pro-Communist and neutralist."

About 70 armed policemen surrounded his house Thursday night. Then, on his way to report to the national police director Briz. Gen. Nguyen Ngoc Loan, Thanh tried to stop at his Saigon office. Police handcuffed him and shoved him into a jeep. Loan said Thanh was being questioned about his application for his family to visit the United States and about the alleged statements of a captured Viet Cong agent linking Thanh with the Communists.

dents cannot return home because of flooded highways.

The town of Pettus, population 350, was completely evacuated because of rain-caused high water but the situation eased today. Water was between 6 and 9 feet in the streets.

Gov. John Connally planned to fly to the lower Rio Grande Valley with a key group of state officials to look at the damage there. Federal and state officials made a preliminary estimate of half billion dollars in damage.

Corpus Christi, a coastal city of 200,000 was completely sealed off by floodwaters late Thursday night. Emergency traffic had been able to move previously.

The Rio Grande Valley, containing about 500,000 residents, was closed by water to the outside. Even travel between closely linked valley towns was a hazardous proposition.

Plans were made to fly 25,000 pounds of tinned meat to the valley today, weather permitting.

The cause of it all, Beulah, moved into Mexico at a point just south of Laredo, Tex., Thursday night. She still bore 50 mile-an-hour winds and still was rated a tropical storm.

The tornado count stood at 56. The twisters ranged far out from the 40,000 square miles of deluges. One hit as far north as Burleson, a suburb of Fort Worth, more than 400 miles north of Corpus Christi. Others slammed into the Houston area, in the upper third of the Gulf of Mexico coastal regions.

Brownsville, the site of Beulah's entry, was devastated from her 160-mile-an-hour winds, rain and flooding. The rain and flooding continued and state troopers blocked off the town.

National Guardsmen patrolled Brownsville and other cities mainly on the coast.

The Texas Department of Public Safety reported the multimillion-dollar facilities on sparkling Padre Island—a stretch of once-level sand dunes and expanses of beach paralleling the coastline—were 80 per cent destroyed by Beulah's winds and tides.

Connally said he would like to meet with his Mexican counterpart, Gov. Praxedes Balboa of Mexico's Tamaulipas state.

A report reaching Reynosa, Mexico, said more than 12,000 persons were evacuated Thursday from Valle Hermoso on the Rio Grande. Balboa ordered the evacuation, bringing to 25,000 the number moved to Matamoros, also hard-hit by Beulah.

Mexican officials estimated Thursday that Beulah had left 80,000 persons homeless in their country.

Defense Building Funds Include 5 Ohio Projects

WASHINGTON (AP)—A massive $2.28 billion Military Construction Authorization Bill includes $80 million for research, development and start of eight construction of an antiballistic missile system.

The bill, up for Senate action Friday, also provides Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara with a $200 million contingency fund which can be used to meet Vietnam war needs, in addition to $80 million earmarked for construction in Southeast Asia.

The measure was unanimously approved Thursday by the Senate Armed Services Committee after months of detailed hearings by a subcommittee.

The Senate total was about $380 million or 14 per cent below Defense Department requests and about $128 million under the amount previously approved by the House.

Ohio projects included in the bill (amounts approved by the House in parentheses) are:

Air Station—Newark Air Force Station $365,000 ($365,000); Lockbourne AFB, Columbus, $51,900 ($51,000) Wright-Patterson AFB Dayton $10,862,000 ($11,030,000).

Drag Racing Rabbi Isn't 'Withdrawn'

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—The rabbi told his father he was a drag racer and Dad said he thought being a rabbi was enough. "He didn't believe it was necessary for me to take additional risks."

Rabbi Robert Schechtman, 28, of Beth El Temple pursues around Springfield in a white souped-up 1966 Mustang called "Heavenly Hauler" which, he says, speaks louder to teen-agers than his sermons.

"I have been able to show these teen-agers that a religious person is a real person," he says. "To be religious doesn't mean that one must be withdrawn."

The rabbi is about as withdrawn as A.J. Foyt. His car can accelerate to 100 m.p.h. in 14 seconds and so far he's won drag competition in Colchester, Conn. and Lebanon, N.Y.

As he purrs around Springfield, he gets challenges from almost anybody on wheels. Rabbi Schechtman tells them, "Sir, come down to the drag strip and I'll race you, not in the street."

The rabbi's pit crew comprises two Jews—Larry and David Solomon, 15-year-old twins—and a Roman Catholic, Peter Ford, 17.

The rabbi told his father, Rabbi Harry Schechtman of Kingston, N.Y., not to worry about the risks of drag racing.

To the younger Schechtman, drag racing is a part of the world created for man by God.

"The Jewish law directs man to enjoy life and to express an interest in many things and it also teaches us to develop skills to improve mankind," he says.

"To be able to use the power developed in the car is a way of asserting mastery of nature," he says. "There is the accomplishment of having made natural forces do what I, man, want."

Community Fund in Action

Well Child Clinic Serves Families Not on Welfare

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of articles designed to acquaint residents of Pickaway County with the functions of Community Fund participating agencies. The campaign this year will be conducted Sept. 25 to Oct. 9. The goal is $50,000.

How can you as a citizen of Pickaway County help 500 children of this community achieve good health? The Community Fund contributed $2,000 in 1966 toward the prevention of some serious medical problems and the treatment of others.

Well Child Clinic, held the second Wednesday of each month in the basement corridor of Berger Hospital, serves many families who do not receive welfare aid, but who are unable to cover the cost of needed medical attention from their own resources.

Children are admitted to the clinic by family request, physician's referral, or through the welfare agency. Once a child has been accepted, he will be scheduled to visit the clinic at least every 2-3 months until he is two years old.

Between the second year and school age the child gets a yearly checkup. During a child's a visit with the clinic he receives pediatric examinations along with the necessary immunizations. If necessary, he also receives medical or surgical treatment, dental care, orthopedic care and for corrective aids for eye and ear deficiencies.

With the pre-school examination, the child then completes his clinic program and his medical history is made available to the school nurse.

The Well Child Clinic is staffed with capable volunteers. The Pickaway County Medical Association and the Pickaway County Registered Nurses Assn. provides members as requested for each clinic session. The Gray Lady organization and the Volunteers, under the auspices of the local Red Cross Chapter, also provide well trained volunteers. Transportation to and from the clinic is provided by interested local women.

During 1966 the clinic added 111 new patients to its lists, provided 733 immunizations, and provided such wide ranging services as tonsillectomies, dental work, and treatment of eye conditions.

The list of the Well Child Clinic's services is long and impressive. But the success of this clinic depends on the public, as it must draw heavily on the Community Fund for support.

Stanford's Math Logic Prof No Graybeard; He's Only 18

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Stanford University has made the youngest professorial appointment in its history, an 18-year-old youth with a liking for Beethoven and tennis—and a strong conviction that American education needs changes.

Prof. Harvey M. Friedman has been appointed to teach mathematical logic at a salary of $10,000 a year. He has the rank of assistant professor.

Friedman, who went to Highland Park, Ill., high school entered Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the fall of 1964 and earned his doctorate Aug. 31, has some definite ideas of today's education.

At a news conference, Friedman expressed the belief that America's education is too regimented.

"Students should have more control of their social relations," said Friedman who had the "usual dates and dances" in school. "They should be allowed to do whatever they want under the law," he continued.

"The university's concern should be whether they can meet the academic standards and pass the required examinations."

"And the curriculum itself, in a general way, should be a concern of the students. The university's right to expel should be on academic standards alone," he said.

Friedman, who will be 19 Saturday is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Friedman of Highland Park. His father is a businessman.

He says it doesn't bother him that some of the students in his course of recursion theory in mathematical logic will be six to seven years older than he is.

Plans were made to fly 25,000 pounds of tinned meat to the valley today, weather permitting.

The cause of it all, Beulah, moved into Mexico at a point just south of Laredo, Tex., Thursday night. She still bore 30 mile-an-hour winds and still was rated a tropical storm.

The tornado cut stood at 56. The twisters ranged far out from the 40,000 square miles of deluges. One hit as far north as Burleson, a suburb of Fort Worth, more than 400 miles north of Corpus Christi. Others slammed into the Houston area, in the upper third of the Gulf of Mexico coastal regions.

Brownsville, the site of Beulah's entry, was devastated by her 160-mile-an-hour winds, rain and flooding. The rain and flooding continued and state troopers blocked off the town.

National Guardsmen patrolled Brownsville and other cities mainly on the coast.

The Texas Department of Public Safety reported the multimillion-dollar facilities on sparkling Padre Island—a stretch of once-lively sand dunes and expanses of beach paralleling the coastline—were 80 per cent destroyed by Beulah's winds and tides.

Connally said he would like to meet with his Mexican counterpart, Gov. Praxedes Balboa of Mexico's Tamaulipas state.

A report reaching Reynosa, Mexico, said more than 12,000 persons were evacuated Thursday from Valle Hermoso on the Rio Grande. Balboa ordered the evacuation, bringing to 25,000 the number moved to Matamoros, also hard-hit by Beulah.

Mexican officials estimated Thursday that Beulah had left 80,000 persons homeless in their country.

Defense Building Funds Include

5 Ohio Projects

WASHINGTON (AP)—A massive $2.28 billion Military Construction Authorization Bill includes $80 million for research, development and start of sight construction of an antiballistic missile system.

The bill, up for Senate action Friday, also provides Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara with a $200 million contingency fund which can be used to meet Vietnam war needs, in addition to $80 million earmarked for construction in Southeast Asia.

The measure was unanimously approved Thursday by the Senate Armed Services Committee after months of detailed hearings by a subcommittee.

The Senate total was about $380 million or 14 per cent below Defense Department requests and about $128 million under the amount previously approved by the House.

Ohio projects included in the bill (amounts approved by the House in parentheses) are:

Air Force—Newark Air Force Station $365,000 ($365,000); Lockbourne AFB, Columbus, $51,000 ($51,000) Wright-Patterson AFB Dayton $10,862,000 ($11,693,000). Defense supply agency—Defense Construction Supply Center Columbus, $847,000 ($847,000).

Drag Racing Rabbi Isn't 'Withdrawn'

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — The rabbi told his father he was a drag racer and Dad said he thought being a rabbi was enough. "He didn't believe it was necessary for me to take additional risks."

Rabbi Robert Scheetman, 28, of Beth El Temple purred around Springfield in a white souped-up 1966 Mustang called "Heavenly Hauler" which, he says, speaks louder to teen-agers than his sermons.

"I have been able to show these teen-agers that a religious person is a real person," he says. "To be religious doesn't mean that one must be withdrawn."

The rabbi is about as withdrawn as A.J. Foyt. His car can accelerate to 100 m.p.h. in 14 seconds and so far he's won drag competition in Colchester, Conn. and Lebanon, N.Y.

As he purrs around Springfield, he gets challenges from almost anybody on wheels. Rabbi Scheetman tells them, "Sir, come down to the drag strip and I'll race you, not in the street." The rabbi's pit crew comprises two Jews—Larry and David Solomon, 15-year-old twins—and a Roman Catholic, Peter Ford, 17.

The rabbi told his father, Rabbi Harry Scheetman of Kingston, N.Y., not to worry about the risks of drag racing.

To the younger Scheetman, drag racing is a part of the world created for man by God.

"The Jewish law directs man to enjoy life and to express an interest in many things and it also teaches us to develop skills to improve mankind," he says. "To be able to use the power developed in the car is a way of asserting mastery of nature," he says. "There is the accomplishment of having made natural forces do what I, man, want."

Community Fund in Action

Well Child Clinic Serves Families Not on Welfare

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of articles designed to acquaint residents of Pickaway County with the functions of Community Fund participating agencies. The campaign this year will be conducted Sept. 25 to Oct. 9. The goal is $50,000.

How can you as a citizen of Pickaway County help 500 children of this community achieve good health? The Community Fund contributed $2,000 in 1966 toward the prevention of some serious medical problems and the treatment of others.

Well Child Clinic, held the second Wednesday of each month in the basement corridor of Berger Hospital, serves many families who do not receive welfare aid, but who are unable to cover the cost of needed medical attention from their own resources.

Children are admitted to the clinic by family request, physician's referral, or through the welfare agency. Once a child has been accepted, he will be scheduled to visit the clinic at least every 2-3 months until he is two years old.

Between the second year and school age the child gets a yearly checkup. During a child's stay with the clinic he receives pediatric examinations along with the necessary immunizations. If necessary, he also receives medical or surgical treatment, dental care, orthopedic care and for corrective aids for eye and ear deficiencies.

With the pre-school examination, the child then completes his clinic program and his medical history is made available to the school nurse.

The Well Child Clinic is staffed with capable volunteers. The Pickaway County Medical Association and the Pickaway County Registered Nurses Assn. provides members as requested for each clinic session. The Gray Lady organization and the Volunteers, under the auspices of the local Red Cross Chapter, also provide well trained volunteers. Transportation to and from the clinic is provided by interested local women.

During 1966 the clinic added 111 new patients to its lists, provided 733 immunizations, and provided such wide ranging services as tonsillectomies, dental work, and treatment of eye conditions.

The list of the Well Child Clinic's services is long and impressive. But the success of this clinic depends on the public, as it must draw heavily on the Community Fund for support.

$25,000 Suit Filed in Court

Ralph Lee Midkiff, Ashville, has filed a $25,000 suit against J. L. Morrison, also of Ashville, in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

The suit was brought as a result of an accident that occurred Sept. 23, 1965 on the Circleville-Lockbourne Road in Harrison Twp.

Morrison hit Midkiff's auto in the rear. As a result of the accident, Midkiff sustained back injuries, according to the petition. Midkiff has accumulated medical bills totaling $250 for treatment of the injuries he sustained in the mishap, the petition contends.

Stanford's Math Logic Prof No Graybeard; He's Only 18

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Stanford University has made the youngest professorial appointment in its history, an 18-year-old youth with a liking for Beethoven and tennis—and a strong conviction that American education needs changes.

Prof. Harvey M. Friedman has been appointed to teach mathematical logic at a salary of $10,000 a year. He has the rank of assistant professor.

Friedman, who went to Highland Park, Ill., high school entered Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the fall of 1964 and earned his doctorate Aug. 31, has some definite ideas of today's education.

At a news conference, Friedman expressed the belief that America's education is too regimented.

"Students should have more control of their social relations," said Friedman who had the "usual dates and dances" in school. "They should be allowed to do whatever they want under the law," he continued.

"The university's concern should be whether they can meet the academic standards and pass the required examinations."

"And the curriculum itself, in a general way, should be a concern of the students. The university's right to expel should be on academic standards alone," he said.

Friedman, who will be 19 Saturday is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Friedman of Highland Park. His father is a businessman.

He says it doesn't bother him that some of the students in his course of recursion theory in mathematical logic will be six to seven years older than he is.

Teaching Machine Unveiled

In New York City the other day, a machine that teaches was unveiled before a skeptical audience. Perhaps the inventor thought a spot where the teachers seem to be constantly on strike would be a fertile field for his brainchild.

The machine, which is somewhat like a TV set, uses a record and a color film slide to present lessons. It is so easy to operate that young children allegedly will not have any trouble operating it — so long as it is well oiled.

It is difficult to know how teachers will take the news of this latest step in the world of gadgetry. Will the machine eventually replace teachers and stop school taxes from zooming annually?

Well, anyway, as one observer said, some day your child may tell you that his teacher has a screw loose and he'll be right.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE ELDERS of the town of Chicken Bristle, in Hart County, Kentucky, have just elected to change its name to Savoyard. What makes this move particularly dismaying is that it leaves only two other Kentucky towns with the name of Chicken Bristle.

The course of true love, as we all know, never runs smooth, and the latest proof came from a mammoth resort hotel in the Catskills where the marriage of a beautiful heiress had already been dispatched. Reason for the break? Miss Buxbaum suddenly realized that the name of her fiancé was Adler—and that for the whole of her married life she would be known to the entire world as Polly Adler.

The Duke of Windsor was telling a group of admirers how to keep their wives happy. "Of course," he concluded with a smile, "I do have one slight edge over the rest of you. It helps in a pinch to remind your bride you gave up a throne for her."

Jim Kelly boasts that he's just picked up a used car that was not only a 1967 model but had never been out of the garage. It had been owned by a dear little old lady who only used it to carbon monoxide husbands.

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My son will be entering college in the fall. He is an excellent student despite the fact that he has had epilepsy from early childhood. Physically and emotionally he has adjusted himself to this handicap and seems to have overcome the insecurity which accompanies this disorder.

He has asked me whether or not he should tell the university administrators and his classmates about his condition, even though it seems to be under control with medication.

Mrs. K. P. S., Arizona
Dear Mrs. S.: The scholastic attainment and the psychological adjustment made by your son is indeed a testimonial to his inner reserve and to the understanding of his parents and the doctors who have been treating him.

Thousands of young people grow into maturity and adulthood and attain high levels of accomplishment despite the disorder of epilepsy. They make brilliant records and adjust themselves to happy married lives and become creative members of society. The greatest sufferers of epilepsy are those who deny its existence to the people they live with, go to school with and work with.

The epileptic who goes through life manipulating his environment so that his handicap may never become visible to others carries a tremendous burden. On the other hand, the epileptic who tells those who are devoted to him that he has such a disorder invites them to share his privacy and alerts them to the possibility of needing their help.

May I, for those who do not know about epilepsy, tell them something about it? This is a brain disorder that results in a convulsion, a fit or a seizure. There are two types. The first—petit mal, or small seizure—is a condition that starts early in childhood and seldom continues past adolescence. The second—grand mal, or great seizure—is the more serious disorder.

Fortunately, more than 90 per cent of all convulsions due to epilepsy can not be controlled with consistent use of drugs. These anti convulsants have been a great source of gratification because of the marked reduction of the number and severity of attacks.

There should not be any greater shame or stigma in having epilepsy than in having any other physical or emotional disorder. Having made the remarkable adjustment that he did, it would be wise for your son to frankly discuss his condition with the university officials and doctors. If a convulsion should occur they would be in the best possible position to offer him immediate help.

I would not necessarily broadcast his condition to everyone indiscriminately. I most certainly would have his intimate friends know about it so that he could be supported and helped if a seizure did occur.

Perhaps even more important is the fact that your son would thus have release from the burden of being afraid that "his secret" will be discovered. The chances are slight that he will, under medication, have an attack. He will be markedly relieved to find that his new friends and classmates will be as sympathetic and understanding as were those in preparatory school. You have good cause to be proud of his adjustment.

The automobile is a lethal weapon in the hands of the alcoholic.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Friday, Sept. 22, the 265th day of 1967. There are 100 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1862, President Abraham Lincoln issued the preliminary emancipation proclamation.

On this date: In 1776, Nathan Hale was hanged as a spy by the British and his last words on the scaffold were: "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."

In 1879, Congress authorized the creation of the office of postmaster general.

In 1789, Cheneyne was selected as the capital of Wyoming.

In 1927, Gene Tunney successfully defended his heavyweight boxing title in the famous long count bout in Chicago.

In 1949, the Soviet Union exploded its first atom bomb.

In 1958, Sherman Adams made a nationwide radio-television broadcast to announce that he's resigned as President Eisenhower's executive assistant.

According to Boyle

By PATRICK E. O'KEEFE (For Hal Boyle)

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — For "like new" Spider Man comic books and a free baby sitter (if you'll take her to the beach) turn to the boys and girls want ad page in the Yonkers Herald-Statesman.

It's free and it's fun for the young advertisers but the Statesman limits ads to 25 words and a special rules clause keeps parents from using their kids' names to peddle boats, cars, pianos or baby cribs.

The Wheeler, dealer teens of the New York City suburb filled six or seven columns a day for part-time jobs, and six or seven columns a day for two weeks in a mad scramble for part-time jobs, reading swaps and second-hand merchandising.

Billy Wolfe's Sealpoint Siamese had eight "beautiful kittens," which he said he'd let go for just $25 apiece. The kittens are pretty desirable because they were "home raised with a dog."

"If you like," advertized Gail

Freddolino, 9, "I would like to sell my two stuffed animals for only $1. They are good stuffed animals."

Also for sale were "a low mileage record player" by Lynne Galant, 14, and a sleeping bag by Ken Johnson, who insisted: "I never used it. No lie."

Harlene Grossman, 11, was "selling books to suit every cause and every person. The books are in good shape. They just aren't read."

And two samples from that booming comic book trade:

"I am selling 5 Spider Man, 5 Avenger, 1 Little Archie, 1 Green Lantern, 1 Batman, 1 Fantastic Four and 2 Illustrated Classics for $1." Clifford Firstenberg, 11.

"I will trade 12 good giant Dennis the Menace comics for 15 good small Marvel Super Hero comics," Matthew Alderman, 10.

The want ad columns were bursting with "eager" and "enthusiastic" baby sitters. And en-need to compete produced some unusual offers.

"Going to the beach! Take me along and I will sit the kids. No charge." Ellen Cohen, 15.

From Mary Buhler, 12, a would-be "mother's helper," came this situation: "Have general idea help at home with 4 brothers & sisters. Won't cost you much."

For 25 cents an hour 9-year-old Kathleen O'Keefe "will read to or play with children 1 1/2 while mother does housework."

In the classic job-seekers ad, Donald Flynn, 18, wrote: "Responsible youth seeks employment as a Catholic organizer or waiter or clerk or counterman or gardener. No experience available."

Richard Barrer, 14, "will pay top dollar for toads, common or foreign." And "if anyone has any radios or any type of electrical or scientific equipment to get rid of," please call Allen Weiner, 13.

The SDS: Here and Abroad

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
Rheinfelden—Visiting in Germany, one becomes aware of an interesting coincidence of initials. German students have an SDS, which stands for the Sozialistischen Deutschen Student-ebundes, or German Socialist Student Organization. In America there is also an SDS, or Students for a Democratic Society.

They represent the same combination of urges, and mirror the same intellectual chaos, even though they have had nothing directly to do with each other. What is ominous about their emotional convergence is that many of their member pay homage to Fidel Castro's old tutor in guerrilla revolution, Che Guevara. If one could speak of balance in connection with the SDS in Germany, it is a case of the New World of Latin American radicalism coming into being to redress the balance in radical circles in the Old World land that gave birth to Karl Marx.

It is not as clear as all that, for the student radicals in Germany are fractured just as they are in America. Rudi Dutschke, the 27-year-old Doctor of Sociology of the Berlin Free University who glories in the title of Chief of Ideology of the Berlin SDS, is on the anarchist side. He raised the roof at a recent gathering of student groups in Frankfurt when without warning or previous discussion, he started talking about the need for town guerrilla fighters. This frightened the more orthodox socialist among the youth who believe in a more orderly way of waging the class struggle.

I would not necessarily broadcast his condition to everyone indiscriminately. I most certainly would have his intimate friends know about it so that he could be supported and helped if a seizure did occur.

Perhaps even more important is the fact that your son would thus have release from the burden of being afraid that "his secret" will be discovered. The chances are slight that he will, under medication, have an attack. He will be markedly relieved to find that his new friends and classmates will be as sympathetic and understanding as were those in preparatory school. You have good cause to be proud of his adjustment.

The automobile is a lethal weapon in the hands of the alcoholic.

Today is Friday, Sept. 22, the 265th day of 1967. There are 100 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1862, President Abraham Lincoln issued the preliminary emancipation proclamation.

On this date: In 1776, Nathan Hale was hanged as a spy by the British and his last words on the scaffold were: "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."

In 1879, Congress authorized the creation of the office of postmaster general.

In 1789, Cheneyne was selected as the capital of Wyoming.

In 1927, Gene Tunney successfully defended his heavyweight boxing title in the famous long count bout in Chicago.

In 1949, the Soviet Union exploded its first atom bomb.

In 1958, Sherman Adams made a nationwide radio-television broadcast to announce that he's resigned as President Eisenhower's executive assistant.

gle. But some of the objections to Dutschke were clearly not based on fundamental differences. They had to go with the tactical aspects of departing in conference from an agreed-upon agenda. In short, why frighten the timid by too much spontaneity?

The hippie influence on the radical young of both countries, however, makes for spontaneity. The word "happening" is being domesticated in Germany in its English spelling, and often without quotation marks. The followers of Rudi Dutschke believe in "happenings" just to make trouble and call attention to themselves.

The odd thing is that nobody, insofar as a cursory examination of the German press shows, links Rudi Dutschke to the Nazi street brawlers of the Nineteen Twenties and Thirties. Che Guevara is "in"; references to Hitler's Captain Ernst Roehm and other radical freebooters of the past are "out."

One is told not to make too much of Rudi Dutschke; he has, after all, only a handful of student followers. But only a few short years ago there was no Students for a Democratic Society organization in America. The old League for Industrial Democracy, which, though socially inclined, believed in orderly change, had not yet given birth to the SDS, a baby which it subsequently disowned because the SDS scoffed at parliamentary tactics. And the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee had not yet embraced violence.

The anarchism of Nikolai I.

Bukharin is not much studied these days. But central to the old anarchist beliefs was the "attentat," or attention-getting act of violence. The modern "happening," as cultivated by Fidel Castro when he made his first attention-getting attack on a well fortified barracks in Cuba, is simply the "attentat" in modern dress. When Stokely Carmichael threatens Cleveland shopkeepers with dynamite instead of Molotov cocktails in case they rebuild their stores without windows, he is the unwitting follower of Bukharin. The same is true of Rudi Dutschke in Germany when he exalts demonstrations by "town guerrillas."

The distressing thing about the young "happening" worshipers and attention-getters on both sides of the Atlantic is that they have no real vision of a good or a just society. They speak of "weakening" capitalism by assaults on its structure of belief, but don't know what they would put in its place. Capitalism, in West Germany, enables a man to buy a TV set with the income derived from one hundred hours of work as compared to two hundred and more hours of work in neighboring countries. Yet the Dutschke followers want to change all that.

Dutschke's German SDS can presumably be contained as long as Germany prospers. The American SDS, unfortunately, seems to have better prospects for hell-raising. But it is distressing to learn that the impulse that creates SDS groups is not limited to any one country.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you think the world is all fouled up, wait till you see what it looks like 10 years from now. At the rate it's going, it's unpredictable. So is the rate at which it is going.

When the United States dropped the atomic bomb on Hiroshima in 1945, a bomber did it. Most people, never having thought or heard of such a weapon, didn't think much beyond the bomb when they did hear of it.

The delivery system, by means of a bomber, didn't seem old-fashioned then. But it soon proved to be as the world leaped into the atomic age, not knowing where it was going, as events showed.

The Soviets caught up with the United States and had their first atomic explosion in 1949. That worried the United States. So in 1950 President Harry S. Truman ordered a worse bomb, the hydrogen one, developed.

The Soviets were working on the same idea. Although the United States had its hydrogen explosion in 1952, the Soviets had theirs in 1953. The next thing was to find a better system for delivering bombs than in bombers.

Both sides built missiles, short-range and the intercontinental kind which could deliver bombs across an ocean. Meanwhile, the Chinese were stirring.

In October 1949, just a month after Moscow's first atomic test, after Moscow's first atomic test, the Red Chinese took control of all mainland China. The fact that they didn't have bomb plants at work right away may explain in part why they were so willing a year later to get into the Korean War against the United States.

They didn't have priceless plants to lose. And the United States, loaded with bombs, would be reluctant to use them against the bombless Chinese if only because of world opinion. And it didn't. The Chinese got out lightly.

They finally got around to bomb-making and then moved fast. They had their first atomic test about three years ago and then last June tried their first hydrogen explosion.

But now they have nuclear plants and fear of losing them at this stage may be one good reason why so far they have refrained from getting into the Vietnamese war against this country. The United States would probably go all-out this time.

Right now, still in their hydrogen bomb development stage and with no missiles to carry them across the Pacific, the Chinese are no menace to the United States. But they will be when they get the missiles, which some experts think may be in the mid-1970s at the latest.

Because of this realization Congress and the Joint Chiefs of Staff put pressure on President Johnson and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to start working on a defense against a Chinese missile attack by building an antimissile missile ABM system which, completely done, McNamara says, might cost $40 billion.

Johnson and McNamara were reluctant to get in that deep in a hurry. The pressure became too much after the Chinese exploded their first atom bomb.

plosion in June. Monday McNamara said the United States would get to work on an ABM system and it should be in good shape in five years.

This ABM system will be mainly a defense against China, the hope being that Moscow can be persuaded not to get into an antimissile-missile contest with this country, since both have enough nuclear weapons now to scare each other into not starting a war.

But what happens if, perhaps within 10 years, China and the Soviet Union patch up their quarrel and turn their missiles toward this country from Asia and Europe? Then the United States might be in sad shape if it didn't have both an anti-Chinese and anti-Soviet antimissile-missile defense.

But by the mid-1970s, when China is fully equipped with its nuclear missile upple, both short and long-range, it may be able to terrorize its Asian neighbors into such submission that all American efforts, including the one in Vietnam, to keep China from dominating Asia may have been in vain.

Worse still, at the rate they're going, by the mid-1970s the United States, Soviet Union and China may be at work on an anti-missile-missile system to frustrate the simple missile system.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — After nearly a year of improvement, the housing industry now seems to have climbed from the pit into which it fell during the worst of the tight money woes of late last year.

The all-clear still hasn't been sounded, because a money shortage still could threaten the mortgage market, but most builders and potential buyers seem to be recovering from the trauma.

Last October housing was being built at an annual rate of 845,000 units, the lowest in 20 years. Money was unavailable for home buying; it went instead to the big corporate customers who were willing to pay dearly.

At almost the same time as the bottom was reached, the Federal Reserve, which controls the spigot through which money flows to the economy, reversed itself. Money poured upon the parched housing field.

As a result, housing began to sprout like a crop after rain, reaching an annual rate this year of 1,831,000 units in August, with forecasts calling for continued growth.

Menacingly close, however, lurks the specter of another money shortage. Last year funds were withdrawn from the mortgage market because yields were higher elsewhere. A repetition is unlikely, but it could occur.

Housing officials at least have been keeping a wary eye on the narrow gap that separates returns on mortgage lending from returns on corporate bonds.

As long as the mortgage market offers lenders good returns, as it has been, then it is fairly safe. But, if rates elsewhere rise sharply some financial institution may again withdraw funds for investing in bonds instead.

Aside from this problem, however, there is a almost inevitable rise in prospect for the industry, partly as a direct result of last year's inadequate construction. The nation now has too few houses.

This shortage is reflected in one of the lowest vacancy rates for houses and apartments in several years, a direct result of the failure of construction to keep pace with new family development and replacement needs.

There is an almost inevitable rise in the long-range prospect also, especially as the big crop of babies born after World War II begins raising families of its own.

So great is the potential, therefore, that some economists have placed the demand for new housing at close to two million units a year within the next half decade.

The big question is this: Will the demand be for single family houses or for apartments?

The answer is eluding building materials dealers, many of whom lean to the belief that multifamily apartment houses will become more popular as the birth rate declines.

They reason that many young families begin life as apartment dwellers and switch to houses only as demanded by their growing number of children. Smaller sized families, they reason, will relieve this pressure.

This trend to apartment living is already clear from housing figures. In 1960 only 17 per cent of all housing starts were accounted for by apartment houses. That figure is now more than 30 per cent and may go higher.

Countering this is the possibility of a growing demand for single-family homes because incomes are growing and more people can afford them, regardless of their space needs.

Such problems are, however, the problems of success. Last year at this time the problems were those of failure.

Comedy Revival

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The man most delighted with the Laurel and Hardy revival is barrel-chested Hal Roach, who hired them, nurtured them through their classic comedies and then, when the Chaplin complex set in, fired them.

Roach's delight stems from artistic rather than monetary concerns. Early in the television era he sold out his interest in the Laurel and Hardy films and realized little of the immense returns that the comedies brought.

Still vigorous at 75, the veteran producer paused to reflect on the phenomenon that has brought the deceased Laurel and Hardy more acclaim now than in their heyday on the screen. Their comedies remain popular on television and in theaters, and critics have hailed them as the great comic artists of the talking films.

"It's strange," reflects Roach. "I've been at film festivals where Charlie Chaplin's old comedies are played. To my surprise, the rags that I roared at when I first saw them get hardly any laughter from today's audiences. But the Laurel and Hardy pictures get laughs in all the places where we planned them to be at the time."

Technology had much to do with this, he explained. In the silent films comedy

Teaching Machine Unveiled

In New York City the other day, a machine that teaches was unveiled before a skeptical audience. Perhaps the inventor thought a spot where the teachers seem to be constantly on strike would be a fertile field for his brain-child.

The machine, which is somewhat like a TV set, uses a record and a color film slide to present lessons. It is so easy to operate that young children allegedly will not have any trouble operating it — so long as it is well oiled.

It is difficult to know how teachers will take the news of this latest step in the world of gadgetry. Will the machine eventually replace teachers and stop school taxes from zooming annually?

Well, anyway, as one observer said, some day your child may tell you that his teacher has a screw loose and he'll be right.

The course of true love, as we all know, never runs smooth, and the latest proof came from a mammoth resort hotel in the Catskills where the marriage of a beautiful heiress had already been dispatched. Reason for the break? Miss Buxbaum suddenly realized that the name of her fiancé was Adler—and that for the whole of her married life she would be known to the entire world as Polly Adler.

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My son will be entering college in the fall. He is an excellent student despite the fact that he has had epilepsy from early childhood. Physically and emotionally he has adjusted himself to this handicap and seems to have overcome the insecurity which accompanies this disorder.

He has asked me whether or not he should tell the university administrators and his classmates about his condition, even though it seems to be under control with medication.

Mrs. K. P. S., Arizona
Dear Mrs. S.: The scholastic attainment and the psychological adjustment made by your son is indeed a testimonial to his inner reserve and to the understanding of his parents and the doctors who have been treating him.

Thousands of young people grow into maturity and adulthood and attain high levels of accomplishment despite the disorder of epilepsy. They make brilliant records and adjust themselves to happy married lives and become creative members of society. The greatest sufferers of epilepsy are those who deny its existence to the people they live with, go to school with and work with.

The epileptic who goes through life manipulating his environment so that his handicap may never become visible to others carries a tremendous burden. On the other hand, the epileptic who tells those who are devoted to him that he has such a disorder invites them to share his privacy and alerts them to the possibility of needing their help.

May I, for those who do not know about epilepsy, tell them something about it? This is a brain disorder that results in a convulsion, a fit or a seizure. There are two types. The first—petit mal, or small seizure—is a condition that starts early in childhood and seldom continues past adolescence. The second—grand mal, or great seizure—is the more serious disorder.

Fortunately, more than 90 per cent of all convulsions due to epilepsy can not be controlled with consistent use of drugs. These anti convulsants have been a great source of gratification because of the marked reduction of the number and severity of attacks.

There should not be any greater shame or stigma in having epilepsy than in having any other physical or emotional disorder. Having made the remarkable adjustment that he did, it would be wise for your son to frankly discuss his condition with the university officials and doctors. If a convulsion should occur they would be in the best possible position to offer him immediate help.

According to Boyle

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — For "like new" Spider Man comic books and a free baby sitter (if you'll take her to the beach) turn to the boys and girls want ad page in the Yonkers Herald-Statesman.

It's free and it's fun for the young advertisers but the Statesman limits ads to 25 words and a special rules clause keeps parents from using their kids' names to peddle boats, cars, pianos or baby cribs.

The wheeler, dealer teens of the New York City suburb filled six or seven columns a day for part-time jobs, and six or seven columns a day for two weeks in a mad scramble for part-time jobs, reading swaps and second-hand merchandising.

Billy Wolfe's Sealpoint Siamese had eight "beautiful kittens," which he said he'd let go for just $25 apiece. The kittens are pretty desirable because they were "home raised with a dog."

"If you like," advertised Gail

Freddolino, 9, "I would like to sell my two stuffed animals for only $1. They are good stuffed animals."

Also for sale were "a low mileage record player" by Lynne Galant, 14, and a sleeping bag by Ken Johnson, who insisted: "I never used it. No lie."

Harlene Grossman, 11, was "selling books to suit every cause and every person. The books are in good shape. They just aren't read."

And two samples from that booming comic book trade:

"I am selling 5 Spider Man, 5 Avenger, 1 Little Archie, 1 Green Lantern, 1 Batman, 1 Fantastic Four and 2 Illustrated Classics for $1." Clifford Firstenberg, 11.

"I will trade 12 good giant Dennis the Menace comics for 15 good small Marvel Super Hero comics," Matthew Alderman, 10.

The want ad columns were bursting with "eager" and "enthusiastic" baby sitters. And the need to compete produced some unusual offers.

"Going to the beach! Take me along and I will sit the kids. No charge." Ellen Cohen, 15.

From Mary Buhler, 12, a would-be "mother's helper," came this situation: "Have general idea help at home with 4 brothers & sisters. Won't cost you much."

For 25 cents an hour 9-year-old Kathleen O'Keefe "will read to or play with children 1½-5 while mother does housework."

In the classic job-seekers ad, Donald Flynn, 18, wrote: "Responsible youth seeks employment as a Catholic organist or waiter or clerk or counterman or gardener. No experience available."

Richard Barrer, 14, "will pay top dollar for toads, common or foreign." And "if anyone has any radios or any type of electrical or scientific equipment to get rid of," please call Allen Weiner, 13.

The SDS: Here and Abroad

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Rheinfelden—Visiting in Germany, one becomes aware of an interesting coincidence of initials. German students have an SDS, which stands for the Sozialistischen Deutschen Studentendebundes, or German Socialist Student Organization. In America there is also an SDS, or Students for a Democratic Society.

They represent the same combination of urges, and mirror the same intellectual chaos, even though they have had nothing directly to do with each other. What is ominous about their emotional convergence is that many of their member pay homage to Fidel Castro's old tutor in guerrilla revolution, Che Guevara. If one could speak of balance in connection with the SDS in Germany, it is a case of the New World of Latin American radicalism coming into being to redress the balance in radical circles in the Old World land that gave birth to Karl Marx.

It is not as clear as all that, for the student radicals in Germany are fractured just as they are in America. Rudi Dutschke, the 27-year-old Doctor of Sociology of the Berlin Free University who glories in the title of Chief of Ideology of the Berlin SDS, is on the anarchist side. He raised the roof at a recent gathering of student groups in Frankfurt when without warning or previous discussion, he started talking about the need for town guerrilla fighters. This frightened the more orthodox socialist among the youth who believe in a more orderly way of waging the class struggle.

But some of the objections to Dutschke were clearly not based on fundamental differences. They had to go with the tactical aspects of departing in conference from an agreed-upon agenda. In short, why frighten the timid by too much spontaneity?

The hippie influence on the radical young of both countries, however, makes for spontaneity. The word "happening" is being domesticated in Germany in its English spelling, and often without quotation marks. The followers of Rudi Dutschke believe in "happenings" just to make trouble and call attention to themselves.

The odd thing is that nobody, insofar as a cursory examination of the German press shows, links Rudi Dutschke to the Nazi street brawlers of the Nineteen Twenties and Thirties. Che Guevara is "in"; references to Hitler's Captain Ernst Roehm and other radical freebooters of the past are "out."

One is told not to make too much of Rudi Dutschke; he has, after all, only a handful of student followers. But only a few short years ago there was no Students for a Democratic Society organization in America. The old League for Industrial Democracy, which, though socially inclined, believed in orderly change, had not yet given birth to the SDS, a baby which it subsequently disowned because the SDS scoffed at parliamentary tactics. And the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee had not yet embraced violence.

The anarchism of Nikolai I.

Bukharin is not much studied these days. But central to the old anarchist beliefs was the "attentat," or attention-getting act of violence. The modern "happening," as cultivated by Fidel Castro when he made his first attention-getting attack on a well fortified barracks in Cuba, is simply the "attentat" in modern dress. When Stokely Carmichael threatens Cleveland shopkeepers with dynamite instead of Molotov cocktails in case they rebuild their stores without windows, he is the unwitting follower of Bukharin. The same is true of Rudi Dutschke in Germany when he exalts demonstrations by "town guerrillas."

The distressing thing about the young "happening" worshippers and attention-getters on both sides of the Atlantic is that they have no real vision of a good or a just society. They speak of "weakening" capitalism by assaults on its structure of belief, but don't know what they would put in its place. Capitalism, in West Germany, enables a man to buy a TV set with the income derived from one hundred hours of work as compared to two hundred and more hours of work in neighboring countries. Yet the Dutschke followers want to change all that.

Dutschke's German SDS can presumably be contained as long as Germany prospers. The American SDS, unfortunately, seems to have better prospects for hell-raising. But it is distressing to learn that the impulse that creates SDS groups is not limited to any one country.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you think the world is all fouled up, wait till you see what it looks like 10 years from now. At the rate it's going, it's unpredictable. So is the rate at which it is going.

When the United States dropped the atomic bomb on Hiroshima in 1945, a bomber did it. Most people, never having thought or heard of such a weapon, didn't think much beyond the bomb when they did hear of it.

The delivery system, by means of a bomber, didn't seem old-fashioned then. But it soon proved to be as the world leaped into the atomic age, not knowing where it was going, as events showed.

The Soviets caught up with the United States and had their first atomic explosion in 1949. That worried the United States. So in 1950 President Harry S. Truman ordered a worse bomb, the hydrogen one, developed.

The Soviets were working on the same idea. Although the United States had its hydrogen explosion in 1952, the Soviets had theirs in 1953. The next thing was to find a better system for delivering bombs than in bombers.

Both sides built missiles, short-range and the intercontinental kind which could deliver bombs across an ocean. Meanwhile, the Chinese were stirring.

In October 1949, just a month after Moscow's first atomic test, the Red Chinese took control of all mainland China. The fact that they didn't have bomb plants at work right away may explain in part why they were so willing a year later to get into the Korean War against the United States.

They didn't have priceless plants to lose. And the United States, loaded with bombs, would be reluctant to use them against the bombless Chinese if only because of world opinion. And it didn't. The Chinese got out lightly.

They finally got around to bomb-making and then moved fast. They had their first atomic test about three years ago and then last June tried their first hydrogen explosion.

But now they have nuclear plants and fear of losing them at this stage may be one good reason why so far they have refrained from getting into the Vietnamese war against this country. The United States would probably go all-out this time.

Right now, still in their hydrogen bomb development stage and with no missiles to carry them across the Pacific, the Chinese are no menace to the United States. But they will be when they get the missiles, which some experts think may be in the mid-1970s at the latest.

Because of this realization Congress and the Joint Chiefs of Staff put pressure on President Johnson and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to start working on a defense against a Chinese missile attack by building an antimissile missile ABM system which, if completely done, McNamara says, might cost $40 billion.

Johnson and McNamara were reluctant to get in that deep in a hurry. The pressure became too much after the Chinese explosion in June. Monday McNamara said the United States would get to work on an ABM system and it should be in good shape in five years.

This ABM system will be mainly a defense against China, the hope being that Moscow can be persuaded not to get into an antimissile-missile contest with this country, since both have enough nuclear weapons now to scare each other into not starting a war.

But what happens if, perhaps within 10 years, China and the Soviet Union patch up their quarrel and turn their missiles toward this country from Asia and Europe? Then the United States might be in sad shape if it didn't have both an anti-Chinese and anti-Soviet antimissile-missile defense.

But by the mid-1970s, when China is fully equipped with its nuclear missile upple, both short and long-range, it may be able to terrorize its Asian neighbors into such submission that all American efforts, including the one in Vietnam, to keep China from dominating Asia may have been in vain.

Worse still, at the rate they're going, by the mid-1970s the United States, Soviet Union and China may be at work on an anti-missile, missile system to frustrate the simple missile system.

Record Spending Makes 'Austerity' Obsolete

By ROBERT E. MILLER
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Talk of Gov. James A. Rhodes' austerity program has died away since 1963 with state spending at an all-time high and Ohioans now paying their first tax increase in eight years.

Today state spending is up about 43 per cent from 1963—and the state payroll of nearly 44,000 employees is about what it was at the beginning of Rhodes' administration.

But the governor's finance director, Richard L. Krabach, insists "we're better managed" than other states. "We're watching every dollar but not putting people on half rations or asking them to work for half salaries," he said.

Krabach, who has built a national reputation in the five years he has run the Finance Department, "never liked the word 'austerity.' I prefer the term 'good management.' What we try to do is cut out the duplication and foolishness." Rhodes and Krabach ordered an across-the-board cut of nine per cent in state spending when they took office in January of 1963. They also cut about 5,000 employees from the state payroll.

Krabach points out that expanded state services in education, welfare and other fields have necessitated the increases in the past four years "and because we are spending more doesn't mean we're being wasteful."

Krabach, a former efficiency expert for Westinghouse and General Motors who carries a slide rule with him at all times, likens the state government to big business. "We are spending about $10 million a day, and that's pretty big for any business," he says.

He started a year ago a program that has caught on and is being copied by other states. It requires that all state employees in supervisory position complete a 12-week program in management training.

"It's a program just like the big corporations have. A person may be entirely capable but if for the first time he finds himself in charge of several thousand employees, he may not know what to do," the finance director says.

Krabach said the one-day-a-week course is taught at Ohio State University by professors and business specialists from all across the country. He took the course himself along with all other members of the governor's cabinet. They made up the first class.

Later classes included hospital superintendents and others in charge of various state offices and institutions.

Krabach said the administration has made further efforts to upgrade personnel and the quality of state services, not the least of which was an increase of about 15 per cent in state salaries voted by the 10th General Assembly.

The assembly also enacted new long-term salary classification in an attempt to retain as well as attract qualified personnel. One of the major problems has been, and still is, keeping personnel often lured away by higher paying jobs in private business.

Garrison Probe Backers Won't Disband—Yet

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Two principal contributors to the private fund that finances Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's inquiry into the Kennedy assassination vow they'll keep putting up the money as long as they believe he has a case.

"We're in hopes that it's a short-term deal," said Willard E. Robertson, a wealthy New Orleans civic leader, "but we're not going to disband until Mr. Garrison's case is proved or disproved."

Robertson referred to Truth and Consequences of New Orleans, Inc., an organization of 50 businessmen which has been backing Garrison since the district attorney's undercover investigation became public knowledge last February.

At that time, Garrison said he couldn't maintain the secrecy he needed if public funds were used in the probe. Such expenditures would be a matter of public record.

Garrison disputes the verdict issued by the Warren Commission after its official investigation of the murder of President John F. Kennedy, shot in Dallas, Tex., on Nov. 22, 1963. The commission ruled that Kennedy was killed by a rifle bullet fired by Lee Harvey Oswald, and concluded that Oswald acted alone.

Garrison says he has evidence that a group of conspirators based in New Orleans was responsible for the assassination, that Oswald played only a minor part in that conspiracy, and that Oswald did not fire the fatal bullet. And, he says, he knows who did.

In the 10 months since the district attorney began his investigation, charges have been filed against one man. Garrison obtained a grand jury indictment charging Clay L. Shaw, a retired New Orleans businessman, with conspiracy. Shaw pleaded innocent, and is free on bond while awaiting trial.

Robertson, who is chairman of Truth and Consequences, said last June 9 that the organization had donated $9,418 to Garrison's probe, and that all but $386 had been spent. This month, he said Garrison's expenditures had totaled "a little over $10,000, but not much more."

"He's not a big spender," said Robertson.

The money, he said, comes in regular donations from the 50 members of Truth and Consequences. "Everyone gives what he can, and it all helps."

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Psychiatrist Needs Patient's Help!

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem which I can't TALK about, but I can write about.

I have been going to a psychiatrist regularly because I know I need the kind of help he can give me, but my problem is I just can't bring myself to tell him what is really bothering me.

I talk freely about everything else, but I can't tell him what is REALLY on my mind.

I don't want to quit, but there isn't any sense in my going every week and spending all that money if I don't get right down to my REAL problem. Yet, I can't say the words. Can you help me?

GUTLESS

DEAR GUTLESS: If you went to the doctor with a severe pain in the leg or stomach and refused to tell the doctor where the pain was, eventually he might be able to locate your trouble and treat it. But you could save yourself and the doctor a lot of time by giving him a clue. That's the way it is with psychotherapy.

A psychiatrist is shockproof. He has heard everything, and he makes no moral judgments. His office is the place to dump your resentments, hostilities and bitterness. So keep going, and keep talking. (P. S. If, as you say, you can "write about it"—write to him.)

DEAR ABBY: I have a girl friend who is overweight. She has a pretty face and a nice personality, but she's fat, which keeps her from being popular.

She feels bad about it and is always dieting, but she'll take off five pounds and put back six.

She's my best friend, Abby, and we go everywhere together. Now she tells me she doesn't want to go around with me any more because I'm thin and when we are together people always compare our sizes which makes her look even fatter than she is.

The world is full of people of all shapes and sizes. I say live and let live. What should I do?

HURT
DEAR HURT: Tell your girl friend that if she hopes to look thinner by going around with girls who are even fatter than she is, her chances for popularity are pretty slim.

DEAR ABBY: Last week my husband and I went to a wedding. In the evening we were seated at a table for eight people. Among them was a young couple we had met that afternoon. The girl was very attractive. My husband asked her to dance, but the girl's husband didn't ask me to dance, so I just sat there.

After a while my husband asked this same attractive girl for another dance. Again I sat! He didn't ask her out of courtesy because there were other ladies at our table whom my husband didn't ask to dance at all.

Oh, yes, my husband danced with me three times, but I was still hurt. He thinks I'm jealous. What do you think?

HURT

DEAR HURT: If you are jealous, I think you have a right to be. Your husband shouldn't have asked the girl for a second dance since you sat during the first.

Grape Growers Call for Better Prices

HARPERSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Over 100 independent grape growers voted unanimously Wednesday night to hold back their 1967 grape crops if they don't get a better price from processors.

The growers are seeking a $135 a ton for their grapes, said Thomas Bennett, an official of the American Farm Bureau. He said some growers got as little as $60 a ton in 1966.

Bennett said processor who want to buy the grape would have to negotiate with the Farm Bureau.

A similar meeting is scheduled tonight in North East, Pa., and one Friday night at Westfield, N.Y.

There are some 455 growers in Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York and they have about 50,000 tons of Concord grapes growing on 11,000 acres of vineyards. The crop should be harvested in two weeks.

Link by Link, Smoother Driving's on Way

By EDITH LEDERER Associated Press Writer

From Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and Canada to Tampa, Fla., from Greensboro, N.C. to Barstow, Calif., the word is out: Interstate is coming "in."

In bits and pieces stretched like broken chains from coast to coast and border to border, a checkerboard pattern of interstate highways are already criss-crossing the map.

Harried motorists plagued by narrow roads, numerous detours, stop signs and traffic lights may be in for smooth driving, sooner than they think.

The key, however, is money, especially federal money. Interstate costs are met 90 per cent by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads and 10 per cent by the states.

Highway officials across the nation are willing to estimate target dates for completion of interstate highway stretches in their states, but each forecast has a monetary string attached.

If federal funds continue to be available, motorists may be able by early 1973 to drive the entire length of Interstate 75, from Sault Ste. Marie to Tampa, on a four-lane highway without a single stop sign, traffic light or intersection at grade.

And this trip could be just the beginning of a longer journey. At Sault Ste. Marie, Interstate 75 crosses the St. Mary's River on the International Bridge and joins the 5,000-mile-long Trans-Canada Highway, the world's longest paved highway.

One of the longest transcontimental routes, Interstate 40, which runs from Barstow to Greensboro, is not expected to be fully completed until 1973.

While long stretches of these and other interstates are finished and open, bottlenecks remain.

Record Spending Makes 'Austerity' Obsolete

By ROBERT E. MILLER
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Talk of Gov. James A. Rhodes' austerity program has died away since 1963 with state spending at an all-time high and Ohioans now paying their first tax increase in eight years.

Today state spending is up about 43 per cent from 1963—and the state payroll of nearly 44,000 employees is about what it was at the beginning of Rhodes' administration.

But the governor's finance director, Richard L. Krabach, insists "we're better managed" than other states. "We're watching every dollar but not putting people on half rations or asking them to work for half salaries," he said.

Krabach, who has built a national reputation in the five years he has run the Finance Department, "never liked the word 'austerity'. I prefer the term 'good management'. What we try to do is cut out the duplication and foolishness." Rhodes and Krabach ordered an across-the-board cut of nine per cent in state spending when they took office in January of 1963. They also cut about 5,000 employees from the state payroll.

Krabach points out that expanded state services in education, welfare and other fields have necessitated the increases in the past four years "and because we are spending more doesn't mean we're being wasteful."

Krabach, a former efficiency expert for Westinghouse and General Motors who carries a slide rule with him at all times, likens the state government to big business. "We are spending about $10 million a day, and that's pretty big for any business," he says.

He started a year ago a program that has caught on and is being copied by other states. It requires that all state employees in supervisory position complete a 12-week program in management training.

"It's a program just like the big corporations have. A person may be entirely capable but if for the first time he finds himself in charge of several thousand employees, he may not know what to do," the finance director says.

Krabach said the one-day-a-week course is taught at Ohio State University by professors of business administration from all across the country. He took the course himself along with all other members of the governor's cabinet. They made up the first class.

Later classes included hospital superintendents and others in charge of various state offices and institutions.

Krabach said the administration has made further efforts to upgrade personnel and the quality of state services, not the least of which was an increase of about 15 per cent in state salaries voted by the 107th General Assembly.

The assembly also enacted new long-term salary classification in an attempt to retain as well as attract qualified personnel. One of the major problems has been, and still is, keeping personnel often lured away by higher paying jobs in private business.

Democrats maintain that despite the high cost of government, the GOP administration has allowed services to decrease in quality. Krabach's predecessor, James H. Malone, said in a speech earlier this year before a meeting of the Ohio AFL-CIO that state services have reached "a new low."

The former finance director (under ex-gov. Michael V. DiSalle) also said "the burden of providing public services in Ohio rests most heavily on those least able to pay."

State Sen. Frank W. King of Toledo, who also is president of the powerful labor organization, reiterated Malone's statements when he opposed the $300 million tax increase voted by this year's legislature.

King contended the one per cent increase in the sales tax put the brunt of the tax bite on the consumer to the advantage of manufacturers "always given favored treatment by the administration."

The senator's comments served to underscore a basic conflict between the administration and Democrats who say they favor industrial expansion but feel the industries should pay more of the tax load.

Krabach contends Ohio's industrial growth, estimated by the Development Department last year at a record $2 billion, produces enough new revenue to make further tax increases unnecessary.

He said the $300 million increase was not needed to continue government operations. "But a decision had to be made

Garrison Probe Backers Won't Disband—Yet

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Two principal contributors to the private fund that finances Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's inquiry into the Kennedy assassination vow they'll keep putting up the money as long as they believe he has a case.

"We're in hopes that it's a short-term deal," said Willard E. Robertson, a wealthy New Orleans civic leader, "but we're not going to disband until Mr. Garrison's case is proved or disproved."

Robertson referred to Truth and Consequences of New Orleans, Inc., an organization of 50 businessmen which has been backing Garrison since the district attorney's undercover investigation became public knowledge last February.

At that time, Garrison said he couldn't maintain the secrecy he needed if public funds were used in the probe. Such expenditures would be a matter of public record.

Garrison disputes the verdict issued by the Warren Commission after its official investigation of the murder of President John F. Kennedy, shot in Dallas, Tex., on Nov. 22, 1963. The commission ruled that Kennedy was killed by a rifle bullet fired by Lee Harvey Oswald, and concluded that Oswald acted alone.

Garrison says he has evidence that a group of conspirators based in New Orleans was responsible for the assassination, that Oswald played only a minor part in that conspiracy, and that Oswald did not fire the fatal bullet. And, he says, he knows who did.

In the 10 months since the district attorney began his investigation, charges have been filed against one man. Garrison obtained a grand jury indictment charging Clay L. Shaw, a retired New Orleans businessman, with conspiracy. Shaw pleaded innocent, and is free on bond while awaiting trial.

Robertson, who is chairman of Truth and Consequences, said last June 9 that the organization had donated $9,418 to Garrison's probe, and that all but $386 had been spent. This month, he said Garrison's expenditures had totaled "a little over $10,000, but not much more."

"He's not a big spender," said Robertson.

The money, he said, comes in regular donations from the 50 members of Truth and Consequences. "Everyone gives what he can, and it all helps."

Celibacy Question Looms Anew Despite Papal Edict

NEW YORK (AP) — The wide-open discussion broke off temporarily when Pope Paul VI spoke a firm "no" to the idea. But now, a few weeks later, the conversation is rising again.

That's how the recent cycle of reaction has gone concerning calls for change in the Roman Catholic prohibition of marriage for priests in the Western world.

After a lull, following the Pope's midsummer encyclical reaffirming the rule of priestly celibacy, the questioning of it has resumed once more.

"The subject will not die down," says the Rev. John A. O'Brien of the University of Notre Dame. He says freedom for priests to marry is, in Victor Hugo's phrase, an unstoppable idea whose "time has come."

"Instead of removing celibacy from discussion, the attempt to do so has had the opposite effect," Father O'Brien told a symposium on the matter at Notre Dame early this month.

It was the first national gathering of priests dealing specifically with the topic, and the prevailing view expressed was that western-rite priests should have the option of marrying, or staying single, as they chose.

Urging that "free choice for free men" be substituted for "the present compulsory celibacy," statement by leaders of the sponsoring organization, the National Association for Pastoral Renewal, said:

"Christ never made permanent bachelorhood a necessary condition for the priesthood. Neither did the apostles, almost all of whom were married. Indeed in the early church not only priests but bishops were generally married."

The new synod of bishops, convening Sept. 29 in Rome, was asked to re-examine the issue. "They must not let themselves be tied up by previous decisions of the Pope," the statement said. "Let them realize the church universal is their responsibility, every bit as much as it is the Pope's."

Only about two months before, in the face of swelling debate about the ban on marriage for priests, Pope Paul had issued his encyclical saying the Church "cannot weaken her faithful observance" of the celibacy tradition.

Nevertheless, although public discussion of the matter died down for a time, it continued to be a lively topic in clerical circles, and then gradually began cropping up again in print and speeches, with growing frequency.

The general ban in the Church's Western, or Latin rite, against priests marrying dates to the Lateran Council in 1139. It is not a dogma, but a working regulation, and thus changeable.

A major argument for the discipline has been that it allows priests to dedicate themselves more fully and efficiently to serving God and others. It also is more economical, since unmarried priests don't have to support families.

The practice also often has been portrayed as a holier calling than marriage — since Jesus himself remained unmarried.

A noted Catholic moral theologian, the Rev. Bernard Haring, says: "You cannot separate celibacy from Christ's prophetic priesthood."

Also sometimes cited is St. Paul's advice that "it is well for a man not to touch a woman," although Paul pointed out he was not laying down a command, and only wished others were celibate like himself.

Be smart! Be sure! Buy now! '68 Chevrolets.

What you're seeing are the most dramatic changes in Chevrolet's history. They're designed modern, with every flowing line in close harmony. They have a new silent ride, new engines, new features. Even brand-new models like the formal-roofed Impala Custom Coupe debut in '68.

Silent computer-tuned ride
To help eliminate noise, computers were used to position engine and body mounts. Shock absorbers, suspension and the exhaust system have been improved. Even the clocks are muffled. A sound car is a silent car. And the '68 Chevrolets are the most silent, smoothest, highest quality cars we've ever built.

Improved performance
There's a bigger standard six and V8 engine, both with many new components to keep your new Chevrolet running stronger. You can order a 250-hp V8 that runs on regular fuel. On most models with automatic transmission, there's a heater for the carburetor that gives you better performance in cold weather. And every Chevrolet has the new GM exhaust emission control.

Unique Astro Ventilation
An entirely new concept in ventilation, called Astro Ventilation, comes on Corvette, Camaro and the Caprice Coupe. It's also available on many other models. By controlling two vent-ports on the instrument panel, you can bring in and direct outside air right where you want it. This way, you get still more peace and quiet, because the windows stay up.

Proved safety features
Of course, proved Chevrolet safety features like the GM-developed energy absorbing steering column and four-way hazard warning flasher are back on all models. Among the many new features for '68 are energy absorbing front seat backs, side marker lights, and safety armrests that shield the door handles.

New features everywhere
Inside, there are rich new interiors with new vinyls, new fabrics, new colors. Instrument panels have been re-designed with all controls in easy reach. Some Chevrolets have Hide-A-Way windshield wipers that come out when it rains, and concealed headlights that hide when the sun shines.

Buy a new Chevrolet now and you'll be one of the smart ones. Ask your Chevrolet dealer to demonstrate the smooth new handling, library-quiet ride and greater quality built into every new '68 Chevrolet.

Celibacy Question Looms Anew Despite Papal Edict

NEW YORK (AP) — The wide-open discussion broke off temporarily when Pope Paul VI spoke a firm "no" to the idea. But now, a few weeks later, the conversation is rising again.

That's how the recent cycle of reaction has gone concerning calls for change in the Roman Catholic prohibition of marriage for priests in the Western world. After a lull, following the Pope's midsummer encyclical reaffirming the rule of priestly celibacy, the questioning of it has resumed once more.

"The subject will not die down," says the Rev. John A. O'Brien of the University of Notre Dame. He says freedom for priests to marry is, in Victor Hugo's phrase, an unstoppable idea whose "time has come."

"Instead of removing celibacy from discussion, the attempt to do so has had the opposite effect," Father O'Brien told a symposium on the matter at Notre Dame early this month.

It was the first national gathering of priests dealing specifically with the topic, and the prevailing view expressed was that western-rite priests should have the option of marrying, or staying single, as they chose.

Urging that "free choice for free men" be substituted for "the present compulsory celibacy," statement by leaders of the sponsoring organization, the National Association for Pastoral Renewal, said:

"Christ never made permanent bachelorhood a necessary condition for the priesthood. Neither did the apostles, almost all of whom were married. Indeed in the early church not only priests but bishops were generally married."

The new synod of bishops, convening Sept. 29 in Rome, was asked to re-examine the issue. "They must not let themselves be tied up by previous decisions of the Pope," the statement said. "Let them realize the church universal is their responsibility, every bit as much as it is the Pope's."

Only about two months before, in the face of swelling debate about the ban on marriage for priests, Pope Paul had issued his encyclical saying the Church "cannot weaken her faithful observance" of the celibacy tradition.

Nevertheless, although public discussion of the matter died down for a time, it continued to be a lively topic in clerical circles, and then gradually began cropping up again in print and speeches, with growing frequency.

The general ban in the Church's Western, or Latin rite, against priests marrying dates to the Lateran Council in 1139. It is not a dogma, but a working regulation, and thus changeable.

A major argument for the discipline has been that it allows priests to dedicate themselves more fully and efficiently to serving God and others. It also is more economical, since unmarried priests don't have to support families.

The practice also often has been portrayed as a holier calling than marriage — since Jesus himself remained unmarried.

A noted Catholic moral theologian, the Rev. Bernard Haring, says: "You cannot separate celibacy from Christ's prophetic priesthood."

Also sometimes cited is St. Paul's advice that "it is well for a man not to touch a woman," although Paul pointed out he was not laying down a command, and only wished others were celibate like himself.

"But each has his own special gift from God, one of one kind and one of another," the apostle writes. "For it is better to marry than to be aflame with passion."

Analyzing Scriptural teaching on the subject, the Rev. Ignatius Hunt, a visiting Catholic professor at Chicago Theological Seminary, says that Paul's references have "nothing to do with clerical status."

"In no case in the Bible can it be said that celibacy is linked to the ministerial priesthood in any formal manner," he told the Notre Dame meeting.

He said "the only possible real Gospel recommendation for celibacy" appears in Matt. 19:10-12, in which Jesus endorses celibacy only for "those to whom it is given."

Scripture shows that, undertaken willingly, celibacy can be "a sign, a witness and a means of full dedication," Father Hunt said, but "it remains an option as far as the Biblical information is concerned."

In Eastern Orthodox churches, priests are permitted to marry, if they do so before becoming priests, although bishops must be celibate. There also are married priests in Rome's Eastern rites.

In the present climate, advocates of change point to a downturn in candidates for the priesthood. They cite celibacy as a deterrent, and also note the rise in defections from the priesthood to marry.

Vatican officials have said that about 4,000 priests in the last three years have asked to be released from celibacy vows to marry, and about 90 per cent of them have been laicized — discharged from priestly functions.

—And where we'll stop, who can know?

We do have the best educational system in the world. But what will your child think and want and demand once we've educated him?

For in our system—unlike the Russian — we impart truth rather than ideas. We give our children the tools of thought, not the party line.

Does your child know that the center of all truth is God? Does he measure his aims by Christian standards of faith and morality? Has he learned where unbridled human passions of greed and power and selfishness can lead? Does he respect the religious faith and spiritual opportunities which motivated American Liberty?

Nobody can brainwash an American family. But it's up to each American family to choose every Sunday between the "around and around," and the center of truth—GOD.

Ashville

Roger Bickers, older son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bickers, received a skull fracture and painful back injuries when the chimney of an outside burner fell on him at his home Thursday evening. He was taken to Children's Hospital and released on Saturday.

Miss Linda Acord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Acord of South Bloomfield, was hostess to several of her school mates at a slumber party Friday night following the Circleville - Teays Valley football game.

Those enjoying the party were Linda Noggle, Debbie Flowers, Karen Longardo, Susan Sabine, Jody Deal, Kathy Penn, Angie Reese, Kathy Moody, Clifton Lee, Leona Conley, Susie Green, Barbara Edwards, Carol Sherman and Connie Collins.

Mrs. Brice Young of near Circleville fell in her home Friday and suffered a fractured ankle. She was a former resident of the South Bloomfield Community and is the mother of Maxine Hoover and Chuck Young of Ashville.

House Panel OKs Increase In Postal Rates, Wage Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Post Office Committee approved today combined legislation raising postal rates across the board and giving pay raises to more than two million federal employees and postal workers.

The vote was 19 to 6. The bill, expected to be considered by the House in about two weeks, would raise postage for letters and post cards by one cent to six and five cents, while raising air mail rates by two cents to 10 cents for letters and eight cents for cards.

It provides three-stage increases for second class postage averaging about 21 per cent and would raise third class rates in January by about 30 per cent.

The pay measure, which had been added to the bill earlier this week, would give postal workers a six per cent increase and other federal employees a 4.5 per cent boost as of Oct. 1.

Next July postal workers would get another five per cent hike, while salaries of federal employees would be brought up to comparability levels with private industry by April 1969.

The administration had sought

Crash Survivors Win Judgments

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Four survivors of a 1960 plane crash in which 22 persons died, including 16 members of the California Polytechnic College football team, have been awarded $50,000 in judgments.

They were Brent E. Jobe, 25, Yuma, Ariz., who received $3,069 and four Californians who received from $12,435 to $2,046.

They were the first judgment in some 35 suits filed after the crash in Toledo, Ohio. The federal government has been held liable because of negligence of federally employed air traffic controllers.

The owner of the chartered plane went out of business. A total of $1,745,000, is being sought in the suits.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

X-15 GOING AFTER SPEED RECORD—Maj. William Knight inspects the connection between one of the external tanks and the X-15 at the NASA Flight Research Center at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., as he prepares to fly the plane at 4,500 miles an hour, an unofficial world's record, Sept. 25. The two extra tanks supply additional propellant for high speed.

Guns Protect Steel Loads

CLEVELAND (AP) — More steel mills layoffs, violence on the highways and the use of armed guards marked the continuing strike by rebellious steel haulers Thursday.

Armco Steel Corp. used convoys and parked guards at its Middletown, Ohio, plant for the first big steel shipment this week.

Republic Steel Corp., the nation's third largest producer, continued to cut back operations at its Cleveland works, where more than one-third of the 7,000-man force was expected to be idled by the end of the week.

Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., reporting that no trucks were coming into its Cleveland plant, said one-tenth of its 4,500 workers here would be idled Sunday if no settlement is reached in the month-long dispute.

Vanadium Steel, Latrobe Steel, Vulcan Mold and Alco Steel, all in the Latrobe, Pa. area, say a continued strike by steel truckers will force them to lay off a total of 5,000 workers if the strike is not over by the weekend.

Pittsburgh Steel, which has received a restraining order halting picketing, says no trucks have entered or left its Allenport, Pa., works. Pittsburgh Steel says it will lay off 2,000 men at Allenport and Monessen if the strike doesn't end by the weekend.

The truck owner-operators, members of the Teamsters Union, are fighting for higher hauling rates and want payment for the time they lose waiting to have their trucks loaded at the mills. They have demanded a 6 per cent increase to 79 per cent of the truck hauling fee.

The strike has spread to eight states, but Ohio and Pennsylvania mills have been hardest hit.

Highway patrolmen have beefed up their patrols in Eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania in the wake of a series of shootings in which steel-hauling trucks have been the major target.

Five truck drivers were arrested in Tuscarawas County, Ohio, for possession of concealed weapons and will get a hearing Sept. 27. The five, all from Columbiana County, were charged after Tuscarawas County deputies reported finding three loaded guns, 170 rounds of ammunition, two fire bombs and several bricks in their car Thursday. They were freed on $500 bond each.

It's 'Sentimental Journey' For 31-Year-Old Queen

NEW YORK (AP) — The Queen Mary, still-pride empress of a faded era, sails today from her Hudson River berth to spread her wide wake across the North Atlantic for the last time.

Hundreds of New Yorkers are expected to send the ageing sea queen off on the last leg of her 500th transatlantic round trip with champagne and song mixed with sorrow.

As the 31-year-old liner begins her trip down river a flotilla of harbor vessels pay one last salute to the monarch that reigned over the golden decades of ship travel.

The Mary, as she is known to her 1,100-member crew, arrived in the harbor with little fanfare Thursday bearing 1,500 passengers—many of them Americans who had flown to England for the final sentimental journey.

Farewells to the 81,000-ton ship began in earnest Thursday night with a glittering cocktail party, dinner and ball on board for the benefit of the Travelers Aid Society of New York.

Several of those attending had sailed so many times on Cunard Line ships they regularly address Christmas cards to the crews. Others were seeing the symbol of opulence and luxury on the high seas for the first time.

Today when the Queen clears Lower New York Bay, Capt. John Treasure - Jones heads for home in Southampton where thousands sang the British national anthem and wept when she departed last Saturday.

Next month the Mary will begin a 35-day final passenger cruise ending in Long Beach, Calif. which has bought the liner to use as a floating hotel and museum.

Geraldine Chaplin Barred from Stage

NEW YORK (AP) — Geraldine Chaplin, 23-year-old daughter of Charlie Chaplin, is barred from appearing on the Broadway stage—temporarily at least.

She was to have appeared in a forthcoming revival of the drama "The Little Foxes" at the Beaumont Theater in Lincoln Center.

Instead, she left Thursday for Madrid—after discovery that she came here on a British passport, a fact which classified her as an alien actress.

Alien players may be hired only by mutual agreement, under the contract between Lincoln Center and Actors Equity union.

Miss Chaplin, who was born in Santa Monica, Calif., but has lived in Europe since childhood, was cast for a part in "The Little Foxes" in the belief that she was a U. S. citizen, said Jules Irving, executive director of the Beaumont Theater. Because of this belief, no clearance was sought, Irving said.

Beaumont officials were unable to say whether Miss Chaplin ever had a U. S. passport.

WHERE WAS KATHY WHEN THE LIGHTS WENT OUT — One moment she is just another young lady talking to General Electric plant manager Ed Grigg. Then the lights went out and Kathy Burns, GE's Lady of Light, shows up in the new dress she wore Thursday at the Circleville plant as part of a promotion campaign for the new electroluminescent lamps in her dress. The lights contain no filaments or glass, and are powered by batteries in her purse.

Scout Troop Takes Over 'Ghost Town'

LEWISTOWN, Mont. (AP) — About 500 boys have been given their own chunk of the Old West—a crumbling ghost town in Montana's North Moccasin Mountains.

Lewistown resident Glenn Morton, who for years had been buying portions of an abandoned town site in hopes of preserving it, first offered half of the original community of Kendall north of Lewistown, to the State of Montana. When Montana officials declined his offer, Morton found an enthusiastic recipient in the North-Central Montana Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

The town is about to return to life. Welding most of the tools the city's pioneer settlers used to search for gold, the youths will attack the dormant town, cleaning streets, resetting foundations, oiling doors and splashing a new coat of paint over cracked lumber.

"The boys aren't the only ones excited about the town," said Beryl Morris, Great Falls scout executive. "I think the heart's among us adults."

Morris said plans for the area will be aimed at preserving its historical significance. "The boys will turn each of the old streets into trails with the same name they had when Kendall was a booming community," he said.

Right now Kendall is asleep. But the fever that drew 1,400 prospectors and their families, and the disillusionment that caused them to vacate the town are still there. The old feelings are still hiding the depths of a concrete bank vault which was emptied of its last gold shipment when paydirt began to run scarce just after the turn of the century.

Morton, assured that his town now is in good hands, asks only that none of the stone ruins be torn down or dismantled. Retired, he is content to relax and watch a church become once more a church; to watch the city wells cleaned and once again yielding cold pure water, and most of all, to watch 500 boys bring youth to a city that was dying of old age.

Mayor Nixes Charge by Soviet Editor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Russian magazine's charges that Toledo is one of America's racial hatred centers brought angry denials from Mayor John Potter Thursday.

"We haven't had violent race trouble. We had three days of disorders which the Negro leaders helped curtail," Potter said in an interview. He is here this week for the Ohio Municipal League Conference.

The charges were made in the Russian Weekly Korkodil. Soviet correspondent Alex Andre Kirknadze, who covered the World Wrestling Championships in Toledo in June 1962, described what he called the city's Harlem as filled with listless unemployment.

"While we have certain (downtown) areas which are occupied predominantly by Negroes, we also have suburban areas which are occupied predominantly by Negroes and we have integrated areas," the mayor said.

Answering Kirknadze's charge that normally Toledo is off limits to Soviet journalists by a State Department order, the mayor said: "I never heard of it at all."

Steel Haulers Ignore Threats Of Violence

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Ignoring threats and violence, some area steel broker drivers began loading and hauling steel out of Armco's plant here Wednesday night and early Thursday.

An Armco spokesman said "considerably more" steel went out of here overnight than in any comparable period this week.

Sporadic shipments have been made since the steel hauling strike began about a month ago.

Although the spokesman declined to say how many total loads were sent out, Robert Wise, a Middletown steel broker who has a franchise for hauling, said he knew of 39 rigs that were loaded and rolled between 3 p. m. and 7 p. m. Wednesday.

Many of the brokers in Middletown and Hamilton, Ohio, met Wednesday and decided to send their drivers into the Armco mill to begin loading and shipping.

Jet Porter, an official with Artim Transportation Lines, said the company and drivers have received many threats but have continued to load steel throughout the strike and would continue to do so.

He said windows in the company's terminal were shot out Wednesday morning but steel rigs still left that night under the protection of city and county police and the Ohio Highway Patrol.

He added that a few rigs rolled alone, on long hauls, but most of the trucks drove in groups of two to six.

Wise said members of the area's Teamsters Union denied any connection with violence in the region.

Ohio Youth Bungles Try To Rescue; Is Jailed

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—A Budapest court sentenced an American youth Thursday to four months in prison for an attempt, which legal lights said was made "in a very native, childish manner," to get his East German fiancée out of Hungary.

Richard Goos, 23, of Hamilton, Ohio, pleaded guilty. With deduction of two months he has already spent in custody, he should be free by late November. However, he asked three days to consider an appeal.

The girl is Doris Beitlich, 19, of East Berlin, with whom Goos corresponded in 1964. She is reported to have been returned to East Germany and is expected to face trial there.

The charges was "attempted illegal frontier crossing and the attempt to assist in the defection of a citizen of the (East) German Democratic Republic."

Presiding Judge Miklos Matyas, the prosecutor and defense counsel agreed on nativity of the effort.

Goos and the girl had tried to saunter casually across the frontier into Yugoslavia, he with a hand on her shoulder, in the Nagykanizsa sector July 27. They were picked up by two Hungarian frontier guards, who asked them for their identity cards and found Doris had none.

Goos told the court he knew he had done something wrong, but was actuated "by high moral consideration." With Yugoslavia as a gateway to the West, he said he had intended to marry Doris. Exit permits are rarely given for East German girls to marry westerners.

The youths is a commercial law student at Indiana University who had spent about a year at Bonn, West Germany, on a scholarship. His parents, Prof. and Mrs. Richard Goos, and U.S. Embassy officials attended the five-hour trial.

Before the trial 55 citizens and organizations of Hamilton, Ohio, sent letters to the American embassy which were forwarded to the Hungarian court.

The letters - including one from the Hamilton mayor and one from the rector of Indiana University-spoke favorable of Goos' human and moral qualities and asked for leniency.

Hearing Date Set In Milk Dispute

CHICAGO (AP)—A hearing on a proposal to amend the Indianapolis federal milk marketing order will be held Oct. 5 by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Indianapolis.

The meeting was requested by the Miami Valley Milk Producers Association.

Dairy farmers propose amending the order to eliminate location adjustments which now reduce the fluid milk (Class I) price and uniform price to producers at any Ohio plant regulated by the Indianapolis order.

The farmers contend the change would help align the producer prices at an Ohio plant operation under the Indianapolis order with prices set by Ohio federal orders in nearby areas.

The Wilmington News Journal: "Coach Jim Knowles and his team face an awesome challenge at this point: The pressing need to prove to their fans and themselves that the Hurricane can play a second half." Wilmington was deadlocked with Hamilton Taft, 20-20, at halftime and trailed Springfield South, 8-0, at halftime.

Miami Trace coach John Beckley: "Our pursuit was so good that the only place they hurt us was on the counter play."

Washington C. H. coach Maurice Pfeifer: "I was real pleased with the determination and desire the kids showed when we were in trouble." The Blue Lions trailed Chillicothe 14-13 at one point last Friday. "We've got a lot of work to do on pass defense," Pfeifer says of his Blue Lions.

Films of the Wilmington-Springfield South game showed the Hurricane gridders committed the "two cardinal sins of losing football: Poor tackling and failure to block," according to the Wilmington News-Journal.

Games around the South Central Ohio League this week find four of the members playing at home.

On the road are Greenfield, at Chillicothe, and Miami Trace, playing at Bishop Ready.

Washington hosts Franklin Heights; Hillsboro's field is the site for a battle with Franklin; Miamisburg is at Wilmington. Pleasant View plays at Circleville. SCO schools will have to be at their best this week to improve on last week's 4-2 record. Overall the league schools have won seven and lost five.

A note from Pickaway County Game Protector Tom Weldon: local squirrel hunters are comparatively successful. Bag checks by game protectors have been averaging two squirrels per hunter.

The rabbit and pheasant population around the county looks encouraging.

Will Yogi Become New Mets Pilot?

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets, seeking to fill the managerial vacancy created by the resignation of Wes Westrum, may be looking toward colorful Yogi Berra as the man to guide them toward the top of the National League.

Berra's stock appeared to have been unintentionally boosted by M. Donald Grant, the Mets' board chairman, Thursday when Westrum's resignation was announced at a press conference.

"We're looking for a man who can satisfy the board, the press and the fans," said Grant, adding, "one that can win us the pennant."

Yogi, former star catcher for the New York Yankees and currently a Mets coach, is among the game's most popular figures as far as the New York baseball writers and the fans are concerned.

He is also 1-for-1 as a big league manager, having led the Yanks to the American League pennant in 1964. He was dismissed after the club lost the World Series in seven games to the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Mets, heading for another last-place finish after a ninth-place standing in 1966, have also fallen off in home attendance.

Selection of a new manager is not expected to be made until next month. However, Alvin Dark, Harry Walker and Gil Hodges are reportedly among the others who will be considered.

Dark was dismissed by Kansas City last month and Walker was fired by Pittsburgh in July. Hodges still has a year to go on his contract as manager at Washington and would have to get the Senators management's permission to negotiate with the Mets.

Westrum's departure was not unexpected although it was believed he would wait on a post-season decision by the management.

"I came to the conclusion that the strain of waiting in addition to the mental and physical strain of managing had become increasingly severe," he explained.

Salty Parker, a coach, will serve as manager until the end of the year.

Lions Don't Underestimate Brown Strength

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Detroit Lions, flying high after holding the powerful Green Bay Packers to a 17-17 tie, are not underrating the Cleveland Browns, who invaded Tiger Stadium Sunday.

"I saw Cleveland play Green Bay and Minnesota on television," says Mel Farr, rookie running back who gained 95 yards against Green Bay. "They're a great offensive team. But we can beat them," he added. "You've got to be positive about it."

Dick LeBeau, veteran Detroit corner back and a former Ohio State player, also had a positive view on the Browns.

"Cleveland is a hell of a football team," said LeBeau.

Protection for ailing passer Frank Ryan will be a major item of business for the Browns if they are to make their offense click against the Lions. All-pro defensive tackle Alex Karras of Detroit, who gave Green Bay's Bart Starr a hard time, probably will get special attention from the Browns.

Facing Karras will be Cleveland's Gene Hickerson, rated by NFL coaches as one of the best guards in the business.

The 6-foot-2, 250-pound Karras is quick and strong, and he brought Starr down seven times and helped force four interceptions.

Hickerson is 6-foot-3, weighs 248 and also is fast. How well he succeeds in holding off Karras could play an important part in Sunday's contest.

Nicklaus Look-Alike Has Troubles

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Gary Warren doesn't mind too much being hounded all the time by autograph-seekers but if people are going to keep mistaking him for Jack Nicklaus he wishes somebody would start handing him $50,000 checks.

"They don't get us mixed up at the bank," Warren said today.

Warren, 30, from Los Angeles, is a remarkable Jack Nicklaus look-alike and around the big golf tournaments that can be sticky.

As former vice chairman of the Los Angeles Open and now administrative aide to Billy Casper, Warren is compelled to be around most of the tournaments in which Nicklaus plays.

That makes it bad for both Warren and big Jack.

"At the Carling World in Toronto, a man and his son came up and wanted me to autograph a program. I insisted I wasn't Nicklaus," Warren said during an interview at the Thunderbird Golf Classic here.

"Aw, come on, Jack, be a good guy," the man pressed.

"Honest, I'm not Nicklaus," I said, trying to be as nice as I could.

"The man and boy continued to argue. Finally, they walked away, mumbling unkind things about what an unobliging and conceited guy Nicklaus is. It's bad."

Warren and Nicklaus are the same height—6 feet but Nicklaus is a bit heavier around the legs and hips, weighing 210 to Gary's 190. Both have round, baby faces with blue eyes and a slick-down batch of golden blond hair.

"People wouldn't have any trouble if they saw me on the tee," said Warren, who never had met the golfer until they had their pictures taken together Thursday. "I play to an eight handicap."

Ohio Colt Best Jug Challenger

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Fabulous Romulus Hanover, delayed 24 hours by rain in his quest for the Little Brown Jug championship, was still the heavy favorite today to cop the pacing classic for 3-year-olds.

"The delay makes absolutely no difference to us," said driver-trainer Billy Haughton Thursday after rain forced postponement of the $84,778 event. "We'll be ready."

Romulus was listed a 4-5 choice to outrace the eight-horse field at the Delaware County Fairgrounds.

Romulus, with 14 victories in 16 starts, has won almost a quarter million dollars for his owners, the Farmstead Acres Stable of Brookville, N.Y.

Weather allowing, the first heat today was set for 1:45 p.m., EDT, with the second heat scheduled about 3 p.m.

Romulus' stiffest challenge was likely to come from Best of All, an Ohio-owned bay colt that was won 11 times in 18 starts with three second and two third place finishes.

It marked only the third postponement in the 22-year history of the Jug when President Hank Thomson decided to call it off.

"This is too big an event with too much at stake to be raced at anything but ideal conditions, if possible," Thomson said.

And the weather bureau predicted near-perfect conditions today for the Jug. The forecast was for sunny skies with temperatures in the low 70s.

Rain started falling Thursday morning and by 11:30 a.m. there was no letup. Track superintendent Curly Smart said the track "wasn't too bad yet but could become slippery and very dangerous."

That's when Thomson decided in favor of the 24-hour delay.

Some 10,000 fans already had arrived at the Delaware County Fairgrounds.

Livingston's Foot Puts Him In Conference Record Book

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—Check the last Mid-American Conference football facts book and the name of Dale Livingston is among the most frequently listed in the records, section.

The Western Michigan University senior from Plymouth, Mich., holds or shares six league records in the various kicking departments, quite a showing for an athlete who only three seasons ago was playing a trumpet in the Bronco marching band.

The story of Livingston's rise to football stardom is by now practically a legend, at least in the Mid-American Conference. It's been often related how he was discovered in an intramural kicking contest and went on to become one of the league's top players.

Western Michigan Head Coach Bill Doolittle was suspicious when the 6-foot-2, 225-pound kicker first reported for the team. Those suspicions have been long since delayed with Livingston's outstanding performances.

He made the all-league team last year as a kicker and he should once again be one of the foremost weapons in the Broncos' offensive and defensive arsenal.

The Bronco specialist holds the following MAC records:

Longest punt (both league and all games) — 86 yards.

Most field goals in a game (both league and all games) — three.

Most field goals in a league season—seven.

Other Tigers in the race included Mike Yates, Ty Ankrom, Billy Thomas, Steve McGinnis, Randy Weller.

Murray Warmath is heading for his 14th season as football coach at Minnesota.

Browns To Face Stadium 'Jinx'

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns will be trying to break an old jinx when they invade Tiger Stadium at Detroit, for a game with the Lions Sunday afternoon.

This will be their sixth appearance there in games that count. In previous appearances they lost three regular season games and two National Football League championship contests.

The Browns also will be bumping into several former Browns players, including quarterback Milt Plum, who has been with the Lions since 1962.

Plum, now 32, has won back the starting job at quarterback for the Lions from Karl Sweet-an.

"Milt's earned the job and he's got it indefinitely," the Lions' new head coach, Joe Schmidt, said Wednesday night.

Mike Lucci, who never was able to make it as a regular linebacker for the Browns, has the job for Detroit. He received the assignment when Schmidt retired to the job of assistant coach last season.

The Lions' defensive unit includes Dick LeBeau, who was signed as a free agent after the Browns cut him from their roster following the 1959 training season.

Ex-Browns with the Detroit offense in addition to Plum include Roger Shoals, the regular left tackle, and Jim Gibbons, who alternates with Ron Kramer at the slot end.

Frank Ryan, quarterback for the Browns who is nursing two sprained ankles, worked out Wednesday and reported he will be ready for the Detroit game.

Steel Haulers Ignore Threats Of Violence

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Ignoring threats and violence, some area steel broker drivers began loading and hauling steel out of Armeo's plant here Wednesday night and early Thursday.

An Armeo spokesman said "considerably more" steel went out of here overnight than in any comparable period this week.

Sporadic shipments have been made since the steel hauling strike began about a month ago. Although the spokesman declined to say how many total loads were sent out, Robert Wise, a Middletown steel broker who has a franchise for hauling, said he knew of 39 rigs that were loaded and rolled between 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Many of the brokers in Middletown and Hamilton, Ohio, met Wednesday and decided to send their drivers into the Armeo mill to begin loading and shipping.

Jet Porter, an official with Artim Transportation Lines, said the company and drivers have received many threats but have continued to load steel throughout the strike and would continue to do so.

He said windows in the company's terminal were shot out Wednesday morning but steel rigs still left that night under the protection of city and county police and the Ohio Highway Patrol.

He added that a few rigs rolled alone, on long-hauls, but most of the trucks drove in groups of two to six.

Wise said members of the area's Teamsters Union denied any connection with violence in the region.

Ohio Youth Bungles Try To Rescue; Is Jailed

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—A Budapest court sentenced an American youth Thursday to four months in prison for an attempt, which legal lights said was made "in a very native, childish manner," to get his East German fiancée out of Hungary.

Richard Goos, 23, of Hamilton, Ohio, pleaded guilty. With deduction of two months he has already spent in custody, he should be free by late November. However, he asked three days to consider an appeal.

The girl is Doris Beilich, 19, of East Berlin, with whom Goos corresponded in 1964. She is reported to have been returned to East Germany and is expected to face trial there.

The charges were "attempted illegal frontier crossing and the attempt to assist in the defection of a citizen of the (East) German Democratic Republic." Presiding Judge Miklos Matyas, the prosecutor and defense counsel agreed on nativity of the effort.

Goos and the girl had tried to saunter casually across the frontier into Yugoslavia, he with a hand on her shoulder, in the Nagykanizsa sector July 27. They were picked up by two Hungarian frontier guards, who asked them for their identity cards and found Doris had none.

Goos told the court he knew he had done something wrong, but was actuated "by high moral consideration." With Yugoslavia as a gateway to the West, he said he had intended to marry Doris. Exit permits are rarely given for East German girls to marry westerners. The youths is a commercial law student at Indiana University who had spent about a year at Bonn, West Germany, on a scholarship. His parents, Prof. and Mrs. Richard Goos, and U.S. Embassy officials attended the five-hour trial.

Before the trial 55 citizens and organizations of Hamilton, Ohio, sent letters to the American embassy which were forwarded to the Hungarian court.

The letters — including one from the Hamilton mayor and one from the rector of Indiana University — spoke favorably of Goos' human and moral qualities and asked for leniency.

Hearing Date Set In Milk Dispute

CHICAGO (AP)—A hearing on a proposal to amend the Indianapolis federal milk marketing order will be held Oct. 5 by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Indianapolis.

The meeting was requested by the Miami Valley Milk Producers Association.

Dairy farmers propose amending the order to eliminate location adjustments which now reduce the fluid milk (Class I) price and uniform price to producers at any Ohio plant regulated by the Indianapolis order.

The farmers contend the change would help align the producer prices at an Ohio plant operation under the Indianapolis order with prices set by Ohio federal orders in nearby areas.

Injuries Up Pro Baseball Insurance

NEW YORK (AP) — Accident insurance premiums for big league ballplayers, especially those whose teams are involved in tight pennant races, are likely to go up next season.

The rates this year doubtless are reasonable. But the list of injured star players is unusually long. The causes of some of the injuries have been unusual, too, to say the least.

The Detroit Tigers, seeking to move up in the American League standings, received a stunning blow when slugger Edie Mathews fell down a flight of stairs.

Still locked in a toe-to-toe battle for the lead with three other clubs, the Tigers were hurt again when Denny McLain dislocated two toes after his foot fell asleep.

Earlier, mild-mannered Al Kaline of Detroit became an angry Tiger and fractured his right hand when he slammed his bat into a bat rack after striking out.

The lights went out for Philadelphia's Rich Allen when he accidentally shoved his right hand through an automobile headlight.

Other standout players sidelined for long periods with injuries received on the field include Tony Conigliaro of Boston, Al Weis of the Chicago White Sox, Frank Robinson of Baltimore, Bob Gibson of St. Louis and Juan Marichal of San Francisco.

Collins Leader In Thunderbird

'Name' Pros Few Strokes Behind

CLIFTON, N. J. (AP) — The U.S. national debt, already large, might have gone sky high had big Bill Collins decided to postpone his injuries for a few years.

"I could have broken Medicare," quipped the burly club pro after taking a one-stroke lead in the $150,000 Thunderbird Golf Classic by shooting a five-under-par 67 in Thursday's opening round.

Collins is a 6-foot-4, 205-pound ex-Marine who devotes most of his time to teaching at Brae Burn Country Club in Purchase, N.Y., and is only a parttimer on the pro tour.

He gave the rest of the 122-man field a putting lesson with a round of 32-35 over the massive 7,055-yard Upper Montclair Country Club course.

Collins' history of physical ailments sounds like the must reading list at your favorite medical school. Back surgery in 1963 failed to fix him up right away and forced him to quit the tour a year later.

Eighteen months ago, he underwent a shoulder operation to correct a whiplash injury suffered in a plane mishap on the 1965 Caribbean circuit. He's also popped tendons and ligaments in his wrist three times.

"And," he confessed, "I woke up Thursday morning with a sore throat and an earache."

One stroke behind Collins, who will be 39 on Saturday, were three year pro Romero Blancas and veteran Johnny Pott.

Another shot back at 69 were Billy Casper, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Rocky Thompson, Tom Weiskopf and the local favorite, Pat Schwab, a 250-pound club pro.

Five players were grouped at 70, with eight more, including Arnold Palmer, at 71.

Red Sox Edge Tribe; Nervous About Future

By RON RAPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer
Gary Bell, sitting in the clubhouse waiting for the rain to stop so he could find out if he was a winner or a loser, was nervous. And the Boston Red Sox, facing four games with a very live ghost, feel the same way.

Bell pitched 6 1-3 innings in Boston's 6-5 victory over Cleveland Thursday night, but was out of the game when rain came in the ninth inning, delaying the outcome for over an hour.

"I was more nervous sitting here in the clubhouse listening to the radio than I was in the game," said Bell, now 31-2, and then his thoughts turned to Baltimore, which starts a four-game streak with the Red Sox, having won seven of their last eight games.

"They're the toughest team in the league right now," Bell said of last year's pennant winner now tied for sixth place. "They're as tough as they were last season when they won the pennant. They've got everybody back."

Boston's victory, coupled with Minnesota's 4-0 triumph over Kansas City, left the Red Sox and Twins in a deadlock for the American League lead. Chicago is one game out and Detroit 1 1/2 games back. Both the White Sox and Tigers were idle Thursday.

Washington beat Baltimore 4-3 in 11 innings in the only other American League game and, in the day's only National League contest, Atlanta beat St. Louis 4-2.

The Red Sox scored three times in the sixth inning against the Indians, two runs coming on Dalton Jones' single. But Cleveland struck for three runs in the seventh and one in the eighth and it wasn't until after the rains that John Wyatt nailed down the victory getting three batters in a row in the ninth.

The Twins got homers from Harmon Killebrew, No. 40, and Tony Oliva, No. 17, and two-hit pitching from Jim Merritt.

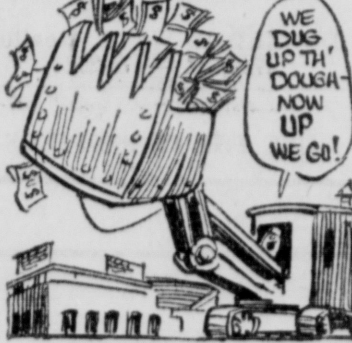

Washington ended Baltimore's seven-game win streak when Tim Lullen drove in the winning run with a two-out single in the 11th. Tito Francona drove in the Braves' winning run with a run-scoring single in the ninth.

Chalmers (Bump) Elliott is heading for his ninth season as Michigan's football coach.

Texas-USC Tilt Takes Spotlight

College Top 3 Favored in Openers

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer
Top-ranked Notre Dame opens defense of its national college football championship Saturday, and Alabama and Michigan State launch bids to take the title away from the Fighting Irish.

But the big donnybrook most likely will take place in the Los Angeles Coliseum Saturday night when fifth-ranked Texas battles No. 4 Southern California.

Notre Dame, which just edged Michigan State in the final Associated Press Top Ten poll last season, with Alabama third, opens against California at South Bend, Ind., and is an overwhelming favorite to handle the Golden Bears.

Second-ranked Alabama is rated three touchdowns better than Florida State under the lights at Birmingham, Ala., while No. 3 Michigan State figures to have a tougher time in the afternoon, being listed about a touchdown favorite over Houston.

All of the other Top Ten teams except No. 10 Nebraska also play Saturday.

Sixth-ranked UCLA is at Pittsburgh, seventh-ranked Georgia is at home against Mississippi State, No. 8 Miami (Fla.) is at Northwestern and ninth-ranked Colorado plays Oregon at Eugene, Ore.

Notre Dame lost 10 regulars through graduation, but all indications are that the Irish faithful will have plenty to cheer about.

Massive Kevin Hardy returns to anchor a big, bruising defensive line, and the linebacking and defensive backfield spots pack plenty of experience.

Quarterbacks Terry Hanratty and Coley O'Brien and end Jim Seymour will spearhead an offense, which lost such standouts as All-America halfback Nick Eddy and fullback Larry Con-jar.

California opened last Saturday with a 21-13 victory over Oregon.

Alabama lost All-America end Ray Perkins through graduation, but the Crimson Tide has Dennis Homan back to catch the passes of Kenny Stabler, who is back in Coach Bear Bryant's good graces after being dropped from the squad during spring drills because of disciplinary reasons.

Florida State lost 33-13 last weekend to a Houston team led by the nifty running and pass catching of halfback Warren McVea.

McVea is the key to Houston's hopes of upsetting Michigan State, which is favored to become the first team to win three straight Big Ten titles even though graduation has taken such defensive stalwarts as end Bubba Smith and monster man George Webster, both All-Americans.

Although the defense might be slightly less sensational than in 1966, the Michigan State offense still figures to be high-powered with such players as quarterback Jimmy Raye and power-running fullback Bob Apisa.

Southern California, a 49-0 victor over Washington State, last weekend, will throw over-all team speed and quickness at Texas and will try to stop the Longhorns' yard-eating combination of quarterback Bill Bradley and halfback Chris Gilbert.

The Wilmington News Journal: "Coach Jim Knowles and his team face an awesome challenge at this point: The pressing need to prove to their fans and themselves that the Hurricane can play a second half." Wilmington was deadlocked with Hamilton Taft, 20-20, at halftime and trailed Springfield South, 8-0, at halftime.

Miami Trace coach John Beckley: "Our pursuit was so good that the only place they hurt us was on the counter play."

Washington C. H. coach Maurice Pfeifer: "I was real pleased with the determination and desire the kids showed when we were in trouble." The Blue Lions trailed Chillicothe 14-13 at one point last Friday. "We've got a lot of work to do on pass defense," Pfeifer says of his Blue Lions.

Films of the Wilmington-Springfield South game showed the Hurricane gridders committed the "two cardinal sins of losing football: Poor tackling and failure to block," according to the Wilmington News-Journal.

Games around the South Central Ohio League this week find four of the members playing at home.

On the road are Greenfield, at Chillicothe, and Miami Trace, playing at Bishop Ready.

Washington hosts Franklin Heights; Hillsboro's field is the site for a battle with Franklin; Miamisburg is at Wilmington. Pleasant View plays at Circleville. SCO schools will have to be at their best this week to improve on last week's 4-2 record. Overall the league schools have won seven and lost five.

A note from Pickaway County Game Protector Tom Weldon: local squirrel hunters are comparatively successful. Bag checks by game protectors have been averaging two squirrels per hunter.

The rabbit and pheasant population around the county looks encouraging.

Will Yogi Become New Mets Pilot?

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets, seeking to fill the managerial vacancy created by the resignation of Wes Westrum, may be looking toward colorful Yogi Berra as the man to guide them toward the top of the National League.

Berra's stock appeared to have been unintentionally boosted by M. Donald Grant, the Mets' board chairman, Thursday when Westrum's resignation was announced at a press conference.

"We're looking for a man who can satisfy the board, the press and the fans," said Grant, adding, "one that can win us the pennant."

Yogi, former star catcher for the New York Yankees and currently a Mets coach, is among the game's most popular figures as far as the New York baseball writers and the fans are concerned.

He is also 1-for-1 as a big league manager, having led the Yanks to the American League pennant in 1964. He was dismissed after the club lost the World Series in seven games to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Lions Don't Underestimate Brown Strength

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Detroit Lions, flying high after holding the powerful Green Bay Packers to a 17-17 tie, are not underrating the Cleveland Browns, who invade Tiger Stadium Sunday.

"I saw Cleveland play Green Bay and Minnesota on television," says Mel Farr, rookie running back who gained 85 yards against Green Bay. "They're a great offensive team. But we can beat them," he added. "You've got to be positive about it."

Dick LeBeau, veteran Detroit corner back and a former Ohio State player, also had a positive view on the Browns.

"Cleveland is a hell of a football team," said LeBeau.

Protection for ailing passer Frank Ryan will be a major item of business for the Browns if they are to make their offense click against the Lions. All-pro defensive tackle Alex Karras of Detroit, who gave Green Bay's Bart Starr a hard time, probably will get special attention from the Browns.

Facing Karras will be Cleveland's Gene Hickerson, rated by NFL coaches as one of the best guards in the business.

The 6-foot-2, 250-pound Karras is quick and strong, and he brought Starr down seven times and helped force four interceptions.

Hickerson is 6-foot-3, weighs 248 and also is fast. How well he succeeds in holding off Karras could play an important part in Sunday's contest.

Nicklaus Look-Alike Has Troubles

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Gary Warren doesn't mind too much being hounded all the time by autograph-seekers but if people are going to keep mistaking him for Jack Nicklaus he wishes somebody would start handing him $50,000 checks.

"They don't get us mixed up at the bank," Warren said today.

Warren, 30, from Los Angeles, is a remarkable Jack Nicklaus look-alike and around the big golf tournaments that can be sticky.

As former vice chairman of the Los Angeles Open and now administrative aide to Billy Casper, Warren is compelled to be around most of the tournaments in which Nicklaus plays.

That makes it bad for both Warren and big Jack.

"At the Carling World in Toronto, a man and his son came up and wanted me to autograph a program. I insisted I wasn't Nicklaus," Warren said during an interview at the Thunderbird Golf Classic here.

"Aw, come on, Jack, be a good guy," the man pressed.

"Honest, I'm not Nicklaus," I said, trying to be as nice as I could.

"The man and boy continued to argue. Finally, they walked away, mumbling unkind things about what an unobliging and conceited guy Nicklaus is. It's bad."

Warren and Nicklaus are the same height—6 feet but Nicklaus is a bit heavier around the legs and hips, weighing 210 to Gary's 190. Both have round, baby faces with blue eyes and a slick-down batch of golden blond hair.

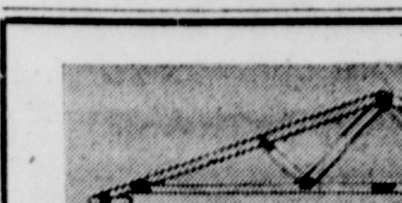

"People wouldn't have any trouble if they saw me on the tee," said Warren, who never had met the golfer until they had their pictures taken together Thursday. "I play to an eight handicap."

Grinner Is Sidelined

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—George Mira, the San Francisco 49er's No. 2 quarterback, was put on injury waiver Thursday making him unavailable for National Football League action for 30 days.

Mira suffered a sprained knee last week in the 49er win over the Minnesota Vikings.

Ohio Colt Best Jug Challenger

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Fabulous Romulus Hanover, delayed 24 hours by rain in his quest for the Little Brown Jug championship, was still the heavy favorite today to cop the pacing classic for 3-year-olds.

"The delay makes absolutely no difference to us," said driver-trainer Billy Haughton Thursday after rain forced postponement of the $84,778 event. "We'll be ready."

Romulus was listed a 4-5 choice to outrace the eight-horse field at the Delaware County Fairgrounds.

Romulus, with 14 victories in 16 starts, has won almost a quarter million dollars for his owners, the Farmstead Acres Stable of Brookville, N.Y.

Weather allowing, the first heat today was set for 1:45 p.m., EDT, with the second heat scheduled about 3 p.m.

Romulus' stiffest challenge was likely to come from Best of All, an Ohio-owned bay colt that was won 11 times in 18 starts with three second and two third place finishes.

It marked only the third postponement in the 22-year history of the Jug when President Hank Thomson decided to call it off.

"This is too big an event with too much at stake to be raced at anything but ideal conditions, if possible," Thomson said.

And the weather bureau predicted near-perfect conditions today for the Jug. The forecast was for sunny skies with temperatures in the low 70s.

Rain started falling Thursday morning and by 11:30 a.m. there was no letup. Track superintendent Curly Smart said the track "wasn't too bad yet but could become slippery and very dangerous."

That's when Thomson decided in favor of the 24-hour delay.

Some 10,000 fans already had arrived at the Delaware County Fairgrounds.

Livingston's Foot Puts Him In Conference Record Book

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—Check the last Mid-American Conference football facts book and the name of Dale Livingston is among the most frequently listed in the records section.

The Western Michigan University senior from Plymouth, Mich., holds or shares six league records in the various kicking departments, quite a showing for an athlete who only three seasons ago was playing a trumpet in the Bronco marching band.

The story of Livingston's rise to football stardom is by now practically a legend, at least in the Mid-American Conference. It's been often related how he was discovered in an intramural kicking contest and went on to become one of the league's top players.

Western Michigan Head Coach Bill Doolittle was suspicious when the 6-foot-2, 225-pound kicker first reported for the team. Those suspicions have been long since been delayed with Livingston's outstanding performances.

He made the all-league team last year as a kicker and he should once again be one of the foremost weapons in the Broncos' offensive and defensive arsenal.

The Bronco specialist holds the following MAC records: Longest punt (both league and all games) — 96 yards.

Most field goals in a game (both league and all games) — three.

Most field goals in a league season—seven.

Red and Black Harriers Win Second Meet

Circleville High School' cross country track team grabbed its second triangular meet decision of the year Thursday. The Tigers scored 21 points, Westfall 53 and Washington C. H. 54.

Daryl Brown led the Red and Black harriers by winning the two mile cross country race over the Pickaway Fairgrounds course in 11:05.

Mel Smith placed second, posting a time of 11:13. Jim Lett of Westfall was third with a time of 11:22. Mark Downing and Gerald McCain nailed down the fourth and fifth spots in the race for the Tigers. In sixth was Doug Davis of Washington.

Other Tigers in the race included Mike Yates, Ty Ankrom, Billy Thomas, Steve McGinnis, Randy Weller.

Murray Warmath is heading for his 14th season as football coach at Minnesota.

Meet the Tigers

BILL GATES

STEVE CARROLL

Today's senior Tigers being introduced to Circleville High School football fans are Bill Gates and Steve Carroll. Gates, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Gates, 290 Lewis Road, is considered one of the finest defensive specialists on the Tiger team. The 167-pound senior plays linebacker. Steve Carroll was "Mr. Utility" last year, playing practically every position. One of the fastest guards in the Tiger football camp, he is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Ray Carroll, 939 Circle Drive.

Browns To Face Stadium 'Jinx'

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns will be trying to break an old jinx when they invade Tiger Stadium at Detroit, for a game with the Lions Sunday afternoon.

This will be their sixth appearance there in games that count. In previous appearances they lost three regular season games and two National Football League championship contests.

The Browns also will be bumping into several former Browns players, including quarterback Milt Plum, who has been with the Lions since 1962.

Plum, now 32, has won back the starting job at quarterback for the Lions from Karl Sweetan.

"Milt's earned the job and he's got it indefinitely," the Lions' new head coach, Joe Schmidt, said Wednesday night.

Mike Lucic, who never was able to make it as a regular linebacker for the Browns, has the job for Detroit. He received the assignment when Schmidt retired to the job of assistant coach last season.

The Lions' defensive unit includes Dick LeBeau, who was signed as a free agent after the Browns cut him from their roster following the 1959 training season.

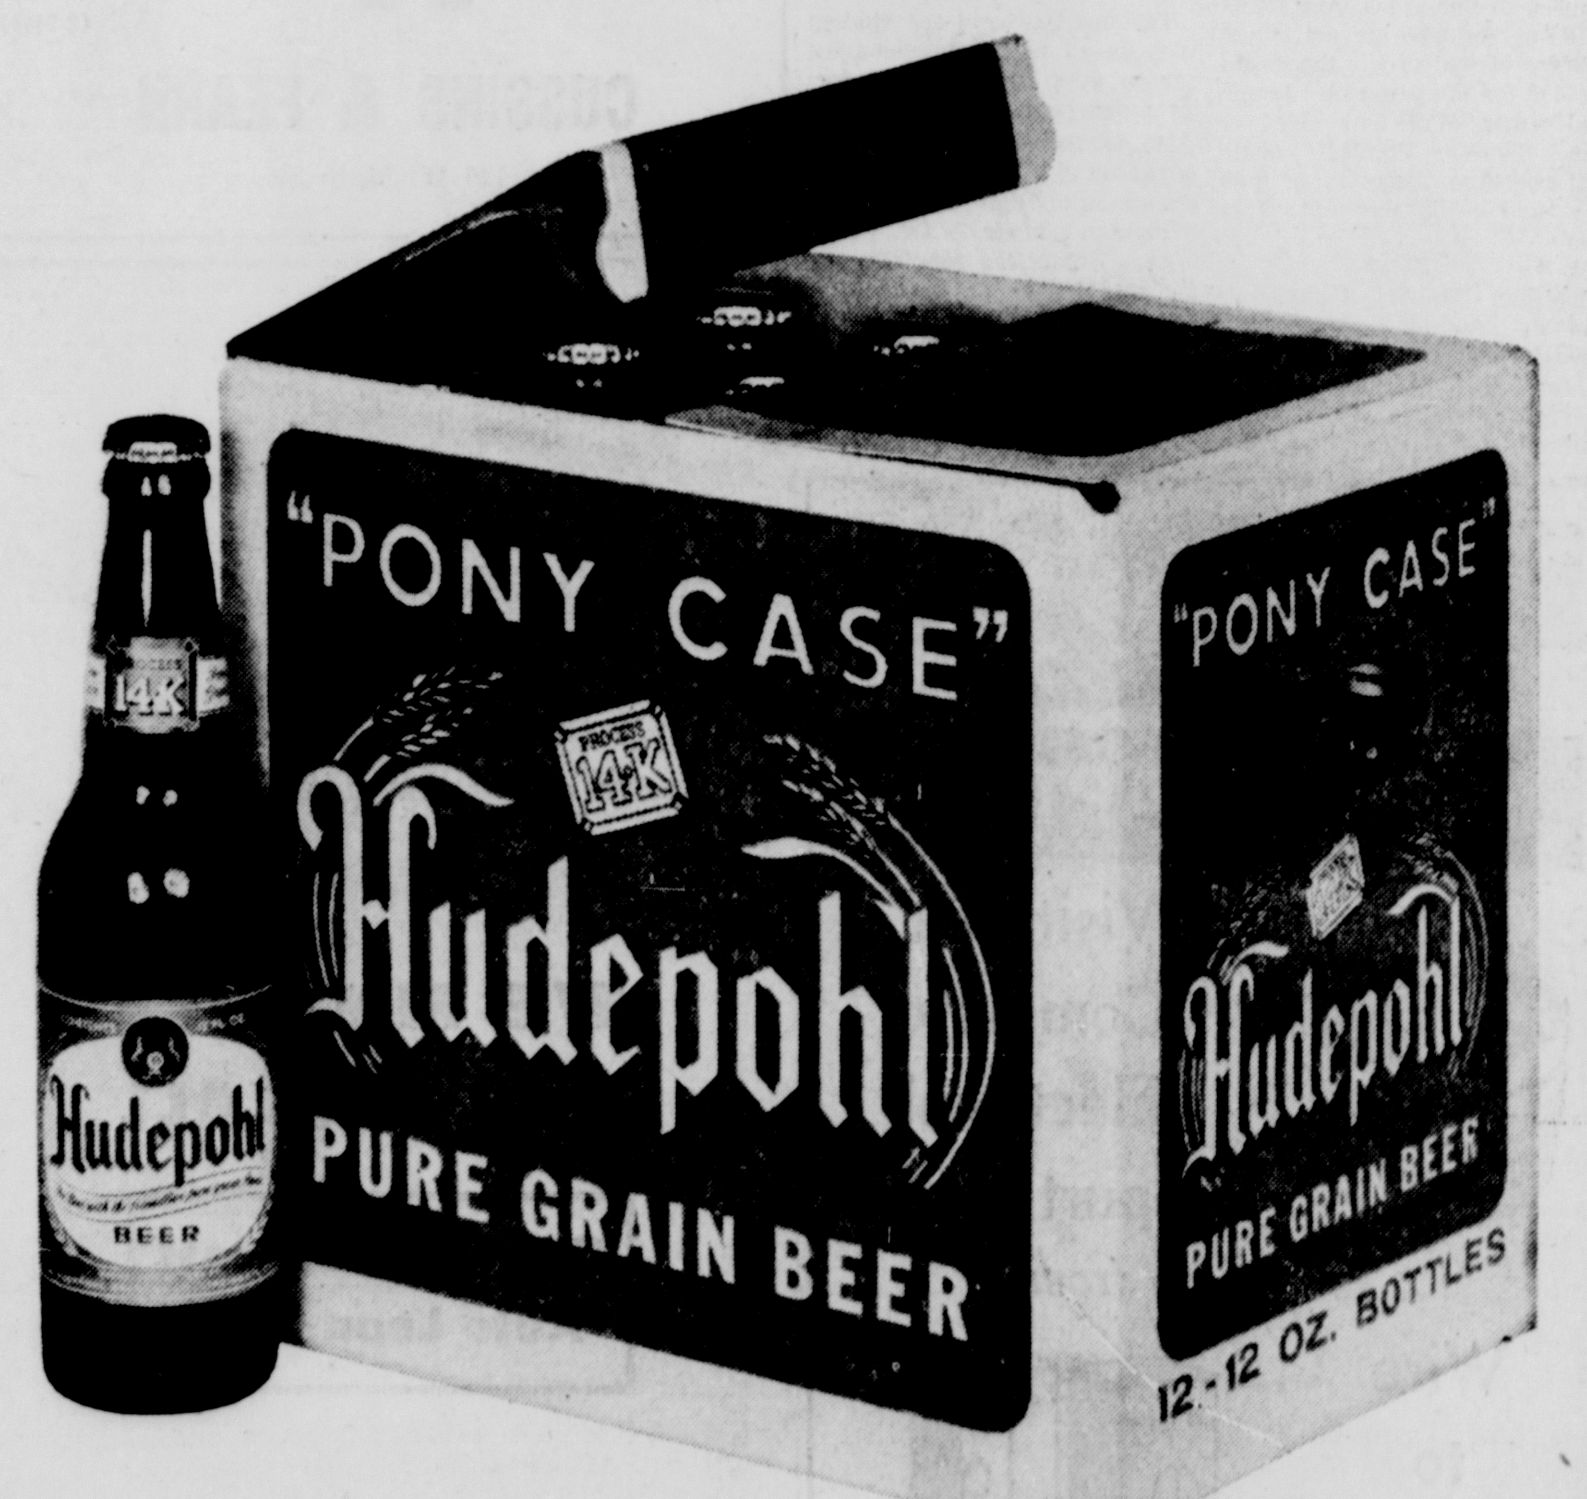

Ex-Browns with the Detroit offense in addition to Plum include Roger Shoals, the regular left tackle, and Jim Gibbons, who alternates with Ron Kramer at the slot end.

Frank Ryan, quarterback for the Browns who is nursing two sprained ankles, worked out Wednesday and reported he will be ready for the Detroit game.

Ex-Olympian Dies

Red Sox Edge Tribe; Nervous About Future

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gary Bell, sitting in the clubhouse waiting for the rain to stop so he could find out if he was a winner or a loser, was nervous. And the Boston Red Sox, facing four games with a very live ghost, feel the same way.

Bell pitched 6 1-3 innings in Boston's 6-5 victory over Cleveland Thursday night, but was out of the game when rain came in the ninth inning, delaying the outcome for over an hour.

"I was more nervous sitting here in the clubhouse listening to the radio than I was in the game," said Bell, now 13-12, and then his thoughts turned to Baltimore, which starts a four-game streak with the Red Sox, having won seven of their last eight games.

"They're the toughest team in the league right now," Bell said of last year's pennant winner now tied for sixth place. "They're as tough as they were last season when they won the pennant. They've got everybody back."

Boston's victory, coupled with Minnesota's 4-0 triumph over Kansas City, left the Red Sox and Twins in a deadlock for the American League lead. Chicago is one game out and Detroit 1 1/2 games back. Both the White Sox and Tigers were idle Thursday.

Washington beat Baltimore 4-3 in 11 innings in the only other American League game and, in the day's only National League contest, Atlanta beat St. Louis 4-2.

The Red Sox scored three times in the sixth inning against the Indians, two runs coming on Dalton Jones' single. But Cleveland struck for three runs in the seventh and one in the eighth and it wasn't until after the rains that John Wyatt nailed down the victory getting three batters in a row in the ninth.

The Twins got homers from Harmon Killebrew, No. 40, and Tony Oliva, No. 17, and two-hit pitching from Jim Merritt. Washington ended Baltimore's seven-game win streak when Tim Lullen drove in the winning run with a two-out single in the 11th. Tito Francona drove in the Braves' winning run with a run-scoring single in the ninth.

Chalmers (Bump) Elliott is heading for his ninth season as Michigan's football coach.

College Top 3 Favored in Openers

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Top-ranked Notre Dame opens defense of its national college football championship Saturday, and Alabama and Michigan State launch bids to take the title away from the Fighting Irish.

But the big donnybrook most likely will take place in the Los Angeles Coliseum Saturday night when fifth-ranked Texas battles No. 4 Southern California.

Notre Dame, which just edged Michigan State in the final Associated Press Top Ten poll last season, with Alabama third, opens against California at South Bend, Ind., and is an overwhelming favorite to handle the Golden Bears.

Second-ranked Alabama is rated three touchdowns better than Florida State under the lights at Birmingham, Ala., while No. 3 Michigan State figures to have a tougher time in the afternoon, being listed about a touchdown favorite over Houston.

All of the other Top Ten teams except No. 10 Nebraska also play Saturday.

Sixth-ranked UCLA is at Pittsburgh, seventh-ranked Georgia is at home against Mississippi State, No. 8 Miami (Fla.) is at Northwestern and ninth-ranked Colorado plays Oregon at Eugene, Ore.

Notre Dame lost 19 regulars through graduation, but all indications are that the Irish faithful will have plenty to cheer about.

Massive Kevin Hardy returns to anchor a big, bruising defensive line, and the linebacking and defensive backfield spots pack plenty of experience.

Quarterbacks Terry Hanratty and Coley O'Brien and end Jim Seymour will spearhead an offense, which lost such standouts as All-America halfback Nick Eddy and fullback Larry Con-jar.

California opened last Saturday with a 21-13 victory over Oregon.

Alabama lost All-America end Ray Perkins through graduation, but the Crimson Tide has Dennis Homan back to catch the passes of Kenny Stabler, who is back in Coach Bear Bryant's good graces after being dropped from the squad during spring drills because of disciplinary reasons.

Florida State lost 33-13 last weekend to a Houston team led by the nifty running and pass catching of halfback Warren McVea.

McVea is the key to Houston's hopes of upsetting Michigan State, which is favored to become the first team to win three straight Big Ten titles even though graduation has taken such defensive stalwarts as end Bubba Smith and monster man George Webster, both All-Americans.

Although the defense might be slightly less sensational than in 1966, the Michigan State offense still figures to be high-powered with such players as quarterback Jimmy Ray and power-running fullback Bob Apisa.

Southern California, a 49-0 victor over Washington State, last weekend, will throw over-all team speed and quickness at Texas and will try to stop the Longhorns' yard-eating combination of quarterback Bill Bradley and halfback Chris Gilbert.

Collins Leader In Thunderbird

'Name' Pros Few Strokes Behind

CLIFTON, N. J. (AP) — The U.S. national debt, already large, might have gone sky high had big Bill Collins decided to postpone his injuries for a few years.

"I could have broken Medicare," quipped the burly club pro after taking a one-stroke lead in the $150,000 Thunderbird Golf Classic by shooting a five-under-par 67 in Thursday's opening round.

Collins is a 6-foot-4, 205-pound ex-Marine who devotes most of his time to teaching at Brae Burn Country Club in Purchase, N.Y., and is only a parttimer on the pro tour. He gave the rest of the 122-man field a putting lesson with a round of 32-35 over the massive 7,055-yard Upper Montclair Country Club course.

Collins' history of physical ailments sounds like the must reading list at your favorite medical school. Back surgery in 1963 failed to fix him up right away and forced him to quit the tour a year later. Eighteen months ago, he underwent a shoulder operation to correct a whiplash injury suffered in a plane mishap on the 1965 Caribbean circuit. He's also popped tendons and ligaments in his wrist three times.

"And," he confessed, "I woke up Thursday morning with a sore throat and an earache."

One stroke behind Collins, who will be 39 on Saturday, were three year pro Homero Blancas and veteran Johnny Pott.

Another shot back at 69 were Billy Casper, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Rocky Thompson, Tom Weiskopf and the local favorite, Pat Schwab, a 250-pound club pro.

Five players were grouped at 70, with eight more, including Arnold Palmer, at 71.

Signs Hockey Contract

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Veteran National Hockey League defenseman Al MacNeil signed a three-year contract with the Pittsburgh Penguins Thursday.

Injuries Up Pro Baseball Insurance

NEW YORK (AP) — Accident insurance premiums for big league ballplayers, especially those whose teams are involved in tight pennant races, are likely to go up next season.

The rates this year doubtless are reasonable. But the list of injured star players is unusually long. The causes of some of the injuries have been unusual, too, to say the least.

The Detroit Tigers, seeking to move up in the American League standings, received a stunning blow when slugger Eddie Mathews fell down a flight of stairs.

Still locked in a toe-to-toe battle for the lead with three other clubs, the Tigers were hurt again when Denny McLain dislocated two toes after his foot fell asleep.

Earlier, mild-mannered Al Kaline of Detroit became an angry Tiger and fractured his right hand when he slammed his bat into a bat rack after striking out.

The lights went out for Philadelphia's Rich Allen when he accidentally shoved his right hand through an automobile headlight.

Other standout players sidelined for long periods with injuries received on the field include Tony Conigliaro of Boston, Al Weis of the Chicago White Sox, Frank Robinson of Baltimore, Bob Gibson of St. Louis and Juan Marichal of San Francisco.

It's 'Sentimental Journey' For 31-Year-Old Queen

NEW YORK (AP) — The Queen Mary, still-proud empress of a faded era, sails today from her Hudson River berth to spread her wide wake across the North Atlantic for the last time.

Hundreds of New Yorkers are expected to send the ageing sea queen off on the last leg of her 500th transatlantic round trip with champagne and song mixed with sorrow.

As the 31-year-old liner begins her trip down river a flotilla of harbor vessels pay one last salute to the monarch that reigned over the golden decades of ship travel.

The Mary, as she is known to her 1,100-member crew, arrived in the harbor with little fanfare Thursday bearing 1,500 passengers—many of them Americans who had flown to England for the final sentimental journey.

Farewells to the 81,000-ton ship began in earnest Thursday night with a glittering cocktail party, dinner and ball on board for the benefit of the Travelers Aid Society of New York.

Several of those attending had sailed so many times on Cunard Line ships they regularly address Christmas cards to the crews. Others were seeing the symbol of opulence and luxury on the high seas for the first time.

Today when the Queen clears Lower New York Bay, Capt. John Treasure - Jones heads for home in Southampton where thousands sang the British national anthem and wept when she departed last Saturday.

Next month the Mary will begin a 35-day final passenger cruise ending in Long Beach, Calif. which has bought the liner to use as a floating hotel and museum.

Adam Powell's

"He doesn't have any power," said Alphonso Cordoza. "Coming here wouldn't help us until he straightens things out in Washington. If he didn't come here, I'm sure he had his reasons."

Those comments were typical of dozens about Powell, who has spent the past 10 months on the island of Bimini in the Bahamas, enjoying deep-sea fishing and scotch, and preaching Black Power.

For weeks before and after the special election last April 11, called after the House refused to seat Powell, the congressman was urged by a variety of spokesmen to return to Harlem, even if it meant arrest on one of the two outstanding contempt citations that grew out of a defamation judgment.

Several groups talked of opposing him if he didn't return, but no such move ever got off the ground.

An appeal from the House of Representatives' March 1 decision to deny Powell his seat, strip him of seniority and make him repay some committee funds is still pending before the U.S. Court of Appeals. His attorneys have said they will appeal to the Supreme Court if necessary, trying to get a decision restoring both his seat and seniority.

A common belief in Harlem is that even if Powell's seat is returned, his seniority, and thus the chairmanship of the House Committee on Education and Labor that was the base of his power, will not be. Informed sources believe he would be unable to accept that, and would resign.

Geraldine Chaplin Barred from Stage

NEW YORK (AP) — Geraldine Chaplin, 23-year-old daughter of Charlie Chaplin, is barred from appearing on the Broadway stage—temporarily at least.

She was to have appeared in a forthcoming revival of the drama "The Little Foxes" at the Beaumont Theater in Lincoln Center.

Instead, she left Thursday for Madrid—after discovery that she came here on a British passport, a fact which classified her as an alien actress.

Alien players may be hired only by mutual agreement, under the contract between Lincoln Center and Actors Equity union.

Miss Chaplin, who was born in Santa Monica, Calif., but has lived in Europe since childhood, was cast for a part in "The Little Foxes" in the belief that she was a U. S. citizen, said Jules Irving, executive director of the Beaumont Theater. Because of this belief, no clearance was sought, Irving said.

Beaumont officials were unable to say whether Miss Chaplin ever had a U. S. passport.

WHERE WAS KATHY WHEN THE LIGHTS WENT OUT — One moment she is just another young lady talking to General Electric plant manager Ed Grigg. Then the lights went out and Kathy Burns, GE's Lady of Light, shows up in the new dress she wore Thursday at the Circleville plant as part of a promotion campaign for the new electroluminescent lamps in her dress. The lights contain no filaments or glass, and are powered by batteries in her purse.

Scout Troop Takes Over 'Ghost Town'

LEWISTOWN, Mont. (AP) — About 500 boys have been given their own chunk of the Old West—a crumbling ghost town in Montana's North Moccasin Mountains.

Lewistown resident Glenn Morton, who for years had been buying portions of an abandoned town site in hopes of preserving it, first offered half of the original community of Kendall north of Lewistown, to the State of Montana. When Montana officials declined his offer, Morton found an enthusiastic recipient in the North-Central Montana Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

The town is about to return to life. Welding most of the tools the city's pioneer settlers used to search for gold, the youths will attack the dormant town, cleaning streets, resetting foundations, oiling doors and splashing a new coat of paint over cracked lumber.

"The boys aren't the only ones excited about the town," said Beryl Morris, Great Falls scout executive. "I think the heart's among us adults."

Morris said plans for the area will be aimed at preserving its historical significance. "The boys will turn each of the old streets into trails with the same name they had when Kendall was a booming community," he said.

Right now Kendall is asleep. But the fever that drew 1,400 prospectors and their families, and the disillusionment that caused them to vacate the town are still there. The old feelings are still hiding the depths of a concrete bank vault which was emptied of its last gold shipment when paydirt began to run scarce just after the turn of the century.

Morton, assured that his town now is in good hands, asks only that none of the stone ruins be torn down or dismantled. Retired, he is content to relax and watch a church become once more a church; to watch the city wells cleaned and once again yielding cold pure water, and most of all, to watch 500 boys bring youth to a city that was dying of old age.

Guns Protect Steel Loads

CLEVELAND (AP) — More steel mills layoffs, violence on the highways and the use of armed guards marked the continuing strike by rebellious steel haulers Thursday.

Armco Steel Corp. used con-

voys and parked guards at its Middletown, Ohio, plant for the first big steel shipment this week.

Republic Steel Corp., the nation's third largest producer, continued to cut back operations at its Cleveland works, where more than one-third of the 7,000-man force was expected to be idled by the end of the week.

Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., reporting that no trucks were coming into its Cleveland plant, said one-tenth of its 4,500 workers here would be idled Sunday if no settlement is reached in the month-long dispute.

Vanadium Steel, Latrobe Steel, Vulcan Mold and Alco Steel, all in the Latrobe, Pa. area, say a continued strike by steel truckers will force them to lay off a total of 5,000 workers if the strike is not over by the weekend.

Pittsburgh Steel, which has received a restraining order halting picketing, says no trucks have entered or left its Allegheny, Pa., works. Pittsburgh Steel says it will lay off 2,000 men at Allegheny and Monessen if the strike doesn't end by the weekend.

The truck owner-operators, members of the Teamsters Union, are fighting for higher hauling rates and want payment for the time they lose waiting to have their trucks loaded at the mills. They have demanded a 6 per cent increase to 79 per cent of the truck hauling fee.

The strike has spread to eight states, but Ohio and Pennsylvania mills have been hardest hit.

Highway patrolmen have beefed up their patrols in Eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania in the wake of a series of shootings in which steel-hauling trucks have been the major target.

Five truck drivers were arrested in Tuscarawas County, Ohio, for possession of concealed weapons and will get a hearing Sept. 27. The five, all from Columbiana County, were charged after Tuscarawas County deputies reported finding three loaded guns, 170 rounds of ammunition, two fire bombs and several bricks in their car Thursday. They were freed on $500 bond each.

Two Stables Repeated

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) —

Only two stables have been able to score consecutive victories in the Kentucky Derby.

Col. E. R. Bradley's colors appeared in the winner's circle with Burgoo King and Brokers Tip in 1932 and 1933.

Calumet Farm won with Citation and Ponder in 1948 and 1949, then duplicated the feat with Iron Liege and Tim Tam in 1957 and 1958.
